NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE religious revival in Richmond, Va., has caused the liquor trade to fall off about 30 per cent. It is also a blow to the "Continental Sabbath."

MR. BLAINE denied yesterday the rumor that he was to resign. He expected to stay in his present office till he had accomplished some of the work which he began in 1881, and "of course throughout this administration."

ARTHUR O'CONNOR, in his testimony before the Parnell Commission in London yesterday, said that when he was in Indianapolis last year he heard Gen. Harrison, now President, say that every honest man and lover of liberty would rather share the company of William O'Brien in Tullamore jail than that of the Viceroy in Dublin Castle.

GEN. HARRISON did not go fishing yesterday, but visited Brooklyn and reviewed the parade of veterans. Mr. Cleveland left New York on Wednesday for Tuxedo Park, to remain out of sight of the soldiers till Decoration day was over. Two years ago Mr. Cleveland spent the day fishing. One year ago he went fishing for votes.

A RELIGIOUS sect calling itself the Pentecost Band has broken out in Tuscola, Ill., and already some of its apostles have suffered the martyrdom of the horsewhip. Their practices conform in some respects to those of the Mormons, and the women are "jinin" rapidly. If there is ever to be more church unity for the sake of decency as well as Christianity, there is need for it now.

GEN. SHERIDAN's monument in Arlington Cemetery was unveiled yesterday. Mrs. Sheridan put it up herself and paid for it out of her own scanty means. If she had buried her husband in New York and waited for the city to appropriately mark the spot, she would have seen only a little mound of earth. The ground for Gen. Grant's monument is not yet broken, though he has been dead nearly four years.

THOMAS F. GILROY, the new Commissioner of Public Works of New York, has discontinued twenty-nine offices and clerkships in his department which he has found needless. All the men turned out are County Democrats. The salaries range from $5,000 per year to $3 a day, and the yearly saving to the city is $53,596.50. "Gilroy's kite" is taking a higher flight than was expected, and the taxpayers would like to have it kept afloat.

CONGRESSMAN E. J. GAY of the third Louisiana district died at his home in Plaquemine yesterday afternoon. He had been dangerously ill for several weeks. The district contains a large Republican majority, and always chose a Republican until Mr. Gay's election to the 49th Congress. Gay's predecessor was Wm. P. Kellogg. The Republicans will make an effort to recapture it. Gay's death is the second among the members of the fifty-first Congress, Mr. Townshend's of Illinois being the first.

A TRAIN robber on the Milwaukee and Northwestern railroad succeeded in robbing a whole car full of passengers at Beaver, Wis., Wednesday night. He began with a brakeman, who "shelled out" without remonstrance. Then one passenger after another surrendered, and as each was robbed he compelled him to step into the aisle and walk ahead. When he had secured all the money in the car he backed out of the door and leaped from the train. He did all this with his little revolver.

ONE of the ladies who married a foreign title and was deceived, has resolved to make the best of a bad bargain. She is the Baroness VonSucrow, formerly Miss Constable of Baltimore, and the lady who followed her faithless spouse to London and Berlin but failed to find him. Both husband and bride have got back home, and he has promised to marry her next September under his real name, which nobody in America knows. Whether he has gained possession of the few millions withheld from him by an irate papa is not stated.

MAYOR GRANT appears to have got the New York Museum of Natural History about where he wants it. The Legislature authorized the issue of $400,000 worth of bonds for building an addition to the institution, and a committee of trustees called upon the Mayor the other day with a request to issue the bonds forthwith. The Mayor told them the act was not mandatory, and that he was in favor of opening the museum on Sunday. He therefore proposed to make this a condition of the issue. The committee argued against the opening, but the Mayor was firm, and they promised to consider it.

IN Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago, yesterday a quarrel broke out between some Grand Army men and a few members of the Old Soldiers and Sailors Association over an attempt by the latter to place flowers on the Soldiers' Home plot, the Grand Army men claiming exclusive control of the proceedings. The other men were provoked to threaten murder before they were permitted to leave their flowers, which were at last laid on the graves of Unionists and Confederates alike. Until this incident occurred it was supposed that every citizen had a right to honor the graves of the soldiers. Any attempt to make a monopoly of the business savors of arrogance and the "big head," and is likely to fail.

THE city has asked for proposals for building sewers in the First ward, the estimated cost being about $25,000. As security for the performance of this work a bond of double the amount of the entire cost of the sewers is required, or about $50,000. The reason for such an excessive and unreasonable bond is not apparent, unless it is to restrict the number of bidders to the few parties who may be able to give this large amount of security. A bond of $5,000 would be ample to indemnify the city against any possible loss in connection with the work, and with such a bond there would be a larger number of bidders, and lower prices would probably be obtained. If the Common Council do not wish to be regarded as trying to shove this work in the hands of favored parties, they will promptly reduce the amount of the bond.

THE CRONIN MURDER AT CHICAGO.

The Man Who is Supposed to Have "Driven the White Horse" Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A new arrest has been made in the Cronin case. The police believe the prisoner may be the man who drove the white horse which conveyed the Doctor to his death. The arrest was made in a lodging house, the records of which show that on the night of the murder the man did not put in an appearance until 12:10 A. M. He has expressed fear a number of times since that he would get into trouble in the Cronin matter, and tried to persuade the clerk to change the record of the hour at which he retired. The fellow is known by the sobriquet of "Mack." It is believed the man is one of the Williams brothers who hired the Carlson cottage, in which the deed was done.

Congressman Edward J. Gay died at his plantation in Iberville Parish, Louisiana, yesterday afternoon.

Liquor Dealers in Trouble.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Many New-Jersey liquor dealers have been startled by the news that they are carrying on business illegally. According to the Werts Liquor law all existing liquor licenses were made void on May 20 of this year, and dealers who have failed to take out licenses since that date are liable to prosecution. The saloon-keeper who secured a license for this year before the new law went into effect will have to pay $250 for a new license, along with the dealers who have not yet taken out licenses. Brewers who pay for the licenses of saloon-keepers will be out thousands of dollars should the law be enforced by the Excise Board.

Blaine Will Not Resign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Secretary Blaine has said this to a friend here: "I see that the newspapers are resigning me again. I can stand it if they can. They do not seem to know that I took my present place to continue the work I began in 1881, and that I shall not resign until I have at least accomplished some of it. I expect, of course, to remain here throughout this administration."

Desecration of a Monument.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 31.—Much indignation was expressed yesterday morning when it was discovered that during the night some thoughtless or malicious persons had desecrated the costly soldiers' monument erected a year ago on one of the principal streets by placing an old derby hat on top of the musket and tying a knotted shirt to the statue's arm.

BEFORE THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Statements Made by Counsel in the Employ of the Parnellites.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Reid, of counsel for the Parnellites, stated before the Parnell Commission to-day that 30 of the League books would be produced before the Commission. Mr. Lockwood, also of counsel for the Parnellites, produced a book, which is alleged to have been Justin McCarthy's pass book. The book covered the period extending from November, 1880, to May, 1887. Among its entries was one of a check for £100, paid to Bryne. Mr. McCarthy took the stand and informed the Court that the book had never been in his possession, and he did not know before that it existed.

Washington Jottings.

In the case of the dressmaker who caused the arrest at Mentone, France, of three American ladies because they refused to pay for dresses which had not been furnished them, Secretary Blaine has instructed Minister Reid to demand a full apology for the insult and annoyance to the ladies, and also the dismissal of the offending official.

The National Museum has just received from A. C. Winslow, of Washington, who was Superintendent of the Mechanical Division of the Treasury from 1866 to 1877, the first key to the National Treasury, made when Alexander Hamilton was Secretary.

Mrs. Harrison and her daughter and father attended the Decoration ceremonies at Arlington.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, May 31.—An immense board sign, four feet wide and 25 feet long, was blown from the building 624 East Fourteenth-street, to-day, by the high wind. In its fall it tore away the coping and a lot of brick work. The debris fell on some children at play beneath and injured four of them, two probably fatally. The injured children are Ellen Wimmer, head badly cut; George Borneman, fractured skull and head badly cut, probably fatally injured; Frederick Seeb, severe scalp wound, and M. Seeb, head badly cut.

The St. Lawrence Canals.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Instructions have been issued by the Department of Railways and Canals for the opening of all the St. Lawrence canals from midnight Saturday until 6 o'clock Sunday evening. This order is the outcome of strong representations by Canadian forwarders that by closing the canals the whole of Sunday they are being discriminated against and that traffic is being diverted to the Erie Canal which otherwise would take the St. Lawrence route.

Killed by Lightning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CORYDON, Ind., May 31.—While Ephraim Kessner was returning from Leavenworth to his home on Wednesday evening lightning struck his wagon, in which were seated five persons besides himself, instantly killing his wife, and so severely shocking a lady named Cline that she has become insane. All the others were injured. The wagon was shattered and a horse was killed.

THE ONTARIO NOT LOST.

Story About the Foundering of a Steamer Spoiled.

A WHITE CAP OUTRAGE.

Several Persons Fatally Injured Out in Iowa.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

Will Reconvene at Saratoga On Monday, June 3.

A PROTOCOL DRAWN UP.

The Samoan Matter Still Being Considered in Berlin.

GOLD TO GO ABROAD.

A SENSATIONAL STORY SPOILED.

The Steamship Ontario, There is Every Reason to Believe, is all Right.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MONTREAL, May 31.—The steamship Ontario, which rumor said was lost in the Gulf yesterday with all hands, passed Rimouski going out yesterday afternoon and was then all right. The telegraph offices below Rimouski have heard nothing to indicate that it met with an accident. The Signal Service report for Anticosti and other points down the St. Lawrence, received this morning, make no reference to any marine disaster.

QUEBEC, May 31.—There is no truth in the report that the steamer Lake Ontario has been wrecked off Anticosti.

THAT MUDDLE ABOUT SAMOAN ISLANDS

Protocol Drawn Up—The Officers of the State Department Reticent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—State Department officials absolutely decline to discuss the Samoan Conference or the Behring Sea tangle. They admit that matters are in such shape as to warrant the expectation of a speedy conclusion of the Samoan Conference. As far as can be learned there is no new phase in the Behring Sea matter. The President's proclamation appears to have closed the history of the case and it cannot be learned that there has been any correspondence between the governments of the United States and Great Britain on the subject. According to the position taken by the United States Government by Congressional declaration the jurisdiction of the United States over the waters on the Alaskan side of Behring's sea is not admitted to be a subject for negotiation. The government simply asserts its absolute right and admits the existence of no question for negotiation.

By Cable to The Freeman.

BERLIN, May 31.—The Samoan Conference will not meet again for several days. The Commissioners have agreed to the questions at issue and have drawn up a protocol. This has been telegraphed to the Governments interested, and it is expected replies will be received by wire. On their arrival a final formal sitting will be held.

COURT OF APPEALS TO RECONVENE

In the Town Hall at Saratoga on Monday, the Third Day of June.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 31.—The Court of Appeals will reconvene in the Town Hall, at Saratoga, on Monday, June 3. Calendar for First Division: Nos. 1,356, 257, 294, 728, 296, 297, 280, 251. For Second Division: Nos. 431, 472, 484, 482, 370, 468, 462, 471.

Thursdays, June 4 and 18, will be motion days.

Equipment of U. S. Vessel.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary Tracy has ordered that the Amphitrite, one of the uncompleted double-turreted monitors, lying at the Harland & Hollingsworth ship-yards at Wilmington, Del., shall be towed to the League Island Navy Yard and completed. Profiting by the recent events at Samoa, when the treasure of the wrecked Trenton was recovered by means of a diving apparatus borrowed from the British man-of-war Calliope, the Navy Department has determined to equip each naval vessel with a complete diving apparatus. A sub-marine diver will also be detailed as part of the complement of each vessel in commission.

The crews of the new gunboats Yorktown and Petrel, and vessels of that class, will be made up, as far as possible, of continuous service men. This will be done with a view to associating the apprentices with the better class of enlisted men.

Couldn't Stay Away Any Longer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—W. J. McGarigle, ex-Warden of the Cook County Hospital, who has been a fugitive from justice under indictment as one of the "Boodlers" in the County ring and who has been living for some time in British Columbia, walked into Judge Shepherd's Court at noon to-day and delivered himself up.

Later on McGarigle pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy. A fine of $1,000 was imposed and when it is paid he will be free.

White Cap Outrage in Iowa.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DESMOINES, Ia., May 31.—A telegram from Mount Auburn reports a White Cap outrage near there, Wednesday night, in which several persons were fatally injured. The victim was a farmer, and his barn was burned down. Being driven out by the flames, he defended himself with a pitchfork and wounded several White Caps. All the parties implicated are under arrest.

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., May 31.—The American schooner Winship, Captain Oliver, owned by Dennis Noyre, of Gloucester, was seized yesterday while fishing inside of the limits at Cape North by the Dominion cruiser Vigilant and brought here. Captain Knowlton is waiting instructions from the Marine Department.

SAFE AND SOUND.

The word "safe" is from the Latin "saluare," to save, preserve. Safe indicates freedom from harm or danger; sound, unscathed, undamaged, secure, whole, as safe from disease.

It is likewise regarded as conferring safety, to be relied upon. Its synonyms are secure, unendangered, sure. "Salutary" is from the same root, meaning health, safety. The term is defined by lexicographers as wholesome, healthful, promoting health; contributing to some beneficial purpose; salubrious, useful, advantageous, profitable, favorableness to the preservation of health and prosperity.

How fitting the word, as applied by Warner's Safe Remedies, which meet every requirement of both materia medica and etymology.

Their use protects from disease, and is a safeguard to the entire race.

Warner's Safe Cure has been extensively used in this and every other civilized country and is recognized as the most beneficial remedy known to man. It has long been recognized (though not publicly) by the medical profession as the most valuable compound for the general restoration of the human system, by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition, as when these great organs are restored to a healthy action then the poisonous waste matter is expelled by the only blood-purifying organs of the system.

Few are aware that the kidneys are the only organs that can purify the blood.

Fancy the danger of poisoned blood continually coursing through the body—65 gallons of blood per hour, or 48 barrels per day, pass through the kidneys, yet the unsuspecting regard them as of little importance until they are stricken down. Poisoned blood engenders general debility, pneumonia, lung and bronchial troubles, paralysis, apoplexy, heart complications, rapidly failing eyesight, scrofulous and cancerous sores, and other serious maladies, which might be averted if the kidneys properly performed their work and expelled the poisonous, waste matter.

When the medical profession will strike at the root instead of hewing the branches, then we can hope for a happy relief from many of the ills of the present day. When diseases are called by their right names, and the real causes of death are made known, instead of death from symptoms of kidney disease, it is then that the people will become more fully aware of the terrible fatality of diseases caused by imperfect action of the kidneys.

We have often used our columns for the benefit of our readers to proclaim the merits of the great remedy heretofore mentioned, which is daily becoming more popular, and we can but repeat the words so often used in their advertisements, which are very simple and very easy, and within the reach of all readers—viz., to ask your friends and neighbors about it.

PIANOS,

I BELIEVE IT YET.

I.

There's some useful information that I got from mother dear,
One evening when I went my girl to see;
She told me I had better be tasteful in my dress,
If from bitter disappointment I'd be free.
She told that Marks Jacobs made suits the handsomest;
That to his store was just the place to go,
That with his help I'd surely win the girl I loved best:
I believed it, for my mother told me so

CHORUS.

She told me that a manly man should dress in manly style,
And always like a gentleman should go;
That for this service I could trust Marks Jacobs all the while;
I believed it, for my mother told me so.

II.

And so I went to Jacobs' store, 184 The Strand,
The next morning at the rising of the sun,
And picked me out the finest that this artist had on hand,
And in just two days the suit complete was done.
Then I hied me to the mansion where lived my Katie Brown,
And her greeting was the sweetest man can know;
She said I was the handsomest, the noblest man in town;
I believed it, for my sweetheart told me so.

CHORUS.

She told me something better yet; she said she would be mine,
That through this life with me she'd gladly go,
If I would wear Marks Jacobs' suits, so fitting, neat and fine;
I believed it, for my Katie told me so.

Marks Jacobs.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE religious revival in Richmond, Va., has caused the liquor trade to fall off about 30 per cent. It is also a blow to the "Continental Sabbath."

MR. BLAINE denied yesterday the rumor that he was to resign. He expected to stay in his present office till he had accomplished some of the work which he began in 1881, and "of course throughout this administration."

ARTHUR O'CONNOR, in his testimony before the Parnell Commission in London yesterday, said that when he was in Indianapolis last year he heard Gen. Harrison, now President, say that every honest man and lover of liberty would rather share the company of William O'Brien in Tullamore jail than that of the Viceroy in Dublin Castle.

GEN. HARRISON did not go fishing yesterday, but visited Brooklyn and reviewed the parade of veterans. Mr. Cleveland left New York on Wednesday for Tuxedo Park, to remain out of sight of the soldiers till Decoration day was over. Two years ago Mr. Cleveland spent the day fishing. One year ago he went fishing for votes.

A RELIGIOUS sect calling itself the Pentecost Band has broken out in Tuscola, Ill., and already some of its apostles have suffered the martyrdom of the horsewhip. Their practices conform in some respects to those of the Mormons, and the women are "jinin" rapidly. If there is ever to be more church unity for the sake of decency as well as Christianity, there is need for it now.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S monument in Arlington Cemetery was unveiled yesterday. Mrs. Sheridan put it up herself and paid for it out of her own scanty means. If she had buried her husband in New York and waited for the city to appropriately mark the spot, she would have seen only a little mound of earth. The ground for Gen. Grant's monument is not yet broken, though he has been dead nearly four years.

THOMAS F. GILROY, the new Commissioner of Public Works of New York, has discontinued twenty-nine offices and clerkships in his department which he has found needless. All the men turned out are County Democrats. The salaries range from $5,000 per year to $3 a day, and the yearly saving to the city is $53,596.50. "Gilroy's kite" is taking a higher flight than was expected, and the taxpayers would like to have it kept afloat.

CONGRESSMAN E. J. GAY of the third Louisiana district died at his home in Plaquemine yesterday afternoon. He had been dangerously ill for several weeks. The district contains a large Republican majority, and always chose a Republican until Mr. Gay's election to the 49th Congress. Gay's predecessor was Wm. P. Kellogg. The Republicans will make an effort to recapture it. Gay's death is the second among the members of the fifty-first Congress, Mr. Townshend's of Illinois being the first.

A TRAIN robber on the Milwaukee and Northwestern railroad succeeded in robbing a whole car full of passengers at Beaver, Wis., Wednesday night. He began with a brakeman, who "shelled out" without remonstrance. Then one passenger after another surrendered, and as each was robbed he compelled him to step into the aisle and walk ahead. When he had secured all the money in the car he backed out of the door and leaped from the train. He did all this with his little revolver.

ONE of the ladies who married a foreign title and was deceived, has resolved to make the best of a bad bargain. She is the Baroness VonSucrow, formerly Miss Constable of Baltimore, and the lady who followed her faithless spouse to London and Berlin but failed to find him. Both husband and bride have got back home, and he has promised to marry her next September under his real name, which nobody in America knows. Whether he has gained possession of the few millions withheld from him by an irate papa is not stated.

MAYOR GRANT appears to have got the New York Museum of Natural History about where he wants it. The Legislature authorized the issue of $400,000 worth of bonds for building an addition to the institution, and a committee of trustees called upon the Mayor the other day with a request to issue the bonds forthwith. The Mayor told them the act was not mandatory, and that he was in favor of opening the museum on Sunday. He therefore proposed to make this a condition of the issue. The committee argued against the opening, but the Mayor was firm, and they promised to consider it.

IN Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago, yesterday a quarrel broke out between some Grand Army men and a few members of the Old Soldiers and Sailors Association over an attempt by the latter to place flowers on the Soldiers' Home plot, the Grand Army men claiming exclusive control of the proceedings. The other men were provoked to threaten murder before they were permitted to leave their flowers, which were at last laid on the graves of Unionists and Confederates alike. Until this incident occurred it was supposed that every citizen had a right to honor the graves of the soldiers. Any attempt to make a monopoly of the business savors of arrogance and the "big head," and is likely to fail.

THE city has asked for proposals for building sewers in the First ward, the estimated cost being about $25,000. As security for the performance of this work a bond of double the amount of the entire cost of the sewers is required, or about $50,000. The reason for such an excessive and unreasonable bond is not apparent, unless it is to restrict the number of bidders to the few parties who may be able to give this large amount of security. A bond of $5,000 would be ample to indemnify the city against any possible loss in connection with the work, and with such a bond there would be a larger number of bidders, and lower prices would probably be obtained. If the Common Council do not wish to be regarded as trying to shove this work in the hands of favored parties, they will promptly reduce the amount of the bond.

THE CRONIN MURDER AT CHICAGO.

The Man Who is Supposed to Have "Driven the White Horse" Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A new arrest has been made in the Cronin case. The police believe the prisoner may be the man who drove the white horse which conveyed the Doctor to his death. The arrest was made in a lodging house, the records of which show that on the night of the murder the man did not put in an appearance until 12:10 A. M. He has expressed fear a number of times since that he would get into trouble in the Cronin matter, and tried to persuade the clerk to change the record of the hour at which he retired. The fellow is known by the sobriquet of "Mack." It is believed the man is one of the Williams brothers who hired the Carlson cottage, in which the deed was done.

Congressman Edward J. Gay died at his plantation in Iberville Parish, Louisiana, yesterday afternoon.

Liquor Dealers in Trouble.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Many New-Jersey liquor dealers have been startled by the news that they are carrying on business illegally. According to the Werts Liquor law all existing liquor licenses were made void on May 20 of this year, and dealers who have failed to take out licenses since that date are liable to prosecution. The saloon keeper who secured a license for this year before the new law went into effect will have to pay $250 for a new license, along with the dealers who have not yet taken out licenses. Brewers who pay for the licenses of saloonkeepers will be out thousands of dollars should the law be enforced by the Excise Board.

Blaine Will Not Resign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Secretary Blaine has said this to a friend here: "I see that the newspapers are resigning me again. I can stand it if they can. They do not seem to know that I took my present place to continue the work I began in 1881, and that I shall not resign until I have at least accomplished some of it. I expect, of course, to remain here throughout this administration."

Desecration of a Monument.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 31.—Much indignation was expressed yesterday morning when it was discovered that during the night some thoughtless or malicious persons had desecrated the costly soldiers' monument erected a year ago on one of the principal streets by placing an old derby hat on top of the musket and tying a knotted shirt to the statue's arm.

The President's Grand-daughter Christened.

Sent to Prison for Zola.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Vizetelly, a well-known bookseller, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for publishing Zola's novels.

BEFORE THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Statements Made by Counsel in the Employ of the Parnellites.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Reid, of counsel for the Parnellites, stated before the Parnell Commission to-day that 30 of the League books would be produced before the Commission. Mr. Lockwood, also of counsel for the Parnellites, produced a book, which is alleged to have been Justin McCarthy's pass book. The book covered the period extending from November, 1880, to May, 1887. Among its entries was one of a check for £100, paid to Bryne. Mr. McCarthy took the stand and informed the Court that the book had never been in his possession, and he did not know before that it existed.

Washington Jottings.

In the case of the dressmaker who caused the arrest at Mentone, France, of three American ladies because they refused to pay for dresses which had not been furnished them, Secretary Blaine has instructed Minister Reid to demand a full apology for the insult and annoyance to the ladies, and also the dismissal of the offending official.

The National Museum has just received from A. C. Winslow, of Washington, who was Superintendent of the Mechanical Division of the Treasury from 1866 to 1877, the first key to the National Treasury, made when Alexander Hamilton was Secretary.

Mrs. Harrison and her daughter and father attended the Decoration ceremonies at Arlington.

Representatives Owen and Bowen were the President's only Congressional callers to-day.

Children Injured in New-York City To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, May 31.—An immense board sign, four feet wide and 25 feet long, was blown from the building 624 East Fourteenth-street, to-day, by the high wind. In its fall it tore away the coping and a lot of brick work. The debris fell on some children at play beneath and injured four of them, two probably fatally. The injured children are Ellen Wimmer, head badly cut; George Borneman, fractured skull and head badly cut, probably fatally injured; Frederick Seeb, severe scalp wound, and M. Seeb, head badly cut.

The St. Lawrence Canals.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Instructions have been issued by the Department of Railways and Canals for the opening of all the St. Lawrence canals from midnight Saturday until 6 o'clock Sunday evening. This order is the outcome of strong representations by Canadian forwarders that by closing the canals the whole of Sunday they are being discriminated against and that traffic is being diverted to the Erie Canal which otherwise would take the St. Lawrence route.

Killed by Lightning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CORYDON, Ind., May 31.—While Ephraim Kessner was returning from Leavenworth to his home on Wednesday evening lightning struck his wagon, in which were seated five persons besides himself, instantly killing his wife, and so severely shocking a lady named Cline that she has become insane. All the others were injured. The wagon was shattered and a horse was killed.

What the Czar is Reported to Have Said.

By Cable to The Freeman

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—The Official Messenger says that at a dinner given in Peterhof Palace in honor of Princess Militza of Montenegro, who had been betrothed to the Grand Duke Peter, of Russia, the Czar offered a toast to the Prince of Montenegro whom he declared to be the sole, sincere and faithful friend of Russia.

THE ONTARIO NOT LOST.

Story About the Foundering of a Steamer Spoiled.

A WHITE CAP OUTRAGE.

Several Persons Fatally Injured Out in Iowa.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

Will Reconvene at Saratoga On Monday, June 3.

A PROTOCOL DRAWN UP.

The Samoan Matter Still Being Considered in Berlin.

GOLD TO GO ABROAD.

A SENSATIONAL STORY SPOILED.

The Steamship Ontario, There is Every Reason to Believe, is all Right.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MONTREAL, May 31.—The steamship Ontario, which rumor said was lost in the Gulf yesterday with all hands, passed Rimouski going out yesterday afternoon and was then all right. The telegraph offices below Rimouski have heard nothing to indicate that it met with an accident. The Signal Service report for Anticosti and other points down the St. Lawrence, received this morning, make no reference to any marine disaster.

QUEBEC, May 31.—There is no truth in the report that the steamer Lake Ontario has been wrecked off Anticosti.

THAT MUDDLE ABOUT SAMOAN ISLANDS

Protocol Drawn Up—The Officers of the State Department Reticent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—State Department officials absolutely decline to discuss the Samoan Conference or the Behring Sea tangle. They admit that matters are in such shape as to warrant the expectation of a speedy conclusion of the Samoan Conference. As far as can be learned there is no new phase in the Behring Sea matter. The President's proclamation appears to have closed the history of the case and it cannot be learned that there has been any correspondence between the governments of the United States and Great Britain on the subject. According to the position taken by the United States Government by Congressional declaration the jurisdiction of the United States over the waters on the Alaskan side of Behring's sea is not admitted to be a subject for negotiation. The government simply asserts its absolute right and admits the existence of no question for negotiation.

By Cable to The Freeman.

BERLIN, May 31.—The Samoan Conference will not meet again for several days. The Commissioners have agreed to the questions at issue and have drawn up a protocol. This has been telegraphed to the Governments interested, and it is expected replies will be received by wire. On their arrival a final formal sitting will be held.

COURT OF APPEALS TO RECONVENE

In the Town Hall at Saratoga on Monday, the Third Day of June.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 31.—The Court of Appeals will reconvene in the Town Hall, at Saratoga, on Monday, June 3. Calendar for First Division: Nos. 1,356, 257, 294, 728, 296, 297, 280, 251. For Second Division: Nos. 431, 472, 484, 482, 370, 468, 462, 471.

Thursdays, June 4 and 18, will be motion days.

Equipment of U. S. Vessel.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary Tracy has ordered that the Amphitrite, one of the uncompleted double-turreted monitors, lying at the Harland & Hollingsworth ship-yards at Wilmington, Del., shall be towed to the League Island Navy Yard and completed. Profiting by the recent events at Samoa, when the treasure of the wrecked Trenton was recovered by means of a diving apparatus borrowed from the British man-of-war Calliope, the Navy Department has determined to equip each naval vessel with a complete diving apparatus. A sub-marine diver will also be detailed as part of the complement of each vessel in commission.

The crews of the new gunboats Yorktown and Petrel, and vessels of that class, will be made up, as far as possible, of continuous service men. This will be done with a view to associating the apprentices with the better class of enlisted men.

Couldn't Stay Away Any Longer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—W. J. McGarigle, ex-Warden of the Cook County Hospital, who has been a fugitive from justice under indictment as one of the "Boodlers" in the County ring and who has been living for some time in British Columbia, walked into Judge Shepherd's Court at noon to-day and delivered himself up.

Later on McGarigle pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy. A fine of $1,000 was imposed and when it is paid he will be free.

White Cap Outrage in Iowa.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DESMOINES, Ia., May 31.—A telegram from Mount Auburn reports a White Cap outrage near there, Wednesday night, in which several persons were fatally injured. The victim was a farmer, and his barn was burned down. Being driven out by the flames, he defended himself with a pitchfork and wounded several White Caps. All the parties implicated are under arrest.

An American Vessel Seized.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., May 31.—The American schooner Winship, Captain Oliver, owned by Dennis Noyre, of Gloucester, was seized yesterday while fishing inside of the limits at Cape North by the Dominion cruiser Vigilant and brought here. Captain Knowlton is waiting instructions from the Marine Department.

SAFE AND SOUND.

The word "safe" is from the Latin "saluare," to save, preserve. Safe indicates freedom from harm or danger; sound, unscathed, undamaged, secure, whole, as safe from disease.

It is likewise regarded as conferring safety, to be relied upon. Its synonyms are secure, unendangered, sure. "Salutary" is from the same root, meaning health, safety. The term is defined by lexicographers as wholesome, healthful, promoting health; contributing to some beneficial purpose; salubrious, useful, advantageous, profitable, favorableness to the preservation of health and prosperity.

How fitting the word, as applied by Warner's Safe Remedies, which meet every requirement of both materia medica and etymology.

Their use protects from disease, and is a safeguard to the entire race.

Warner's Safe Cure has been extensively used in this and every other civilized country and is recognized as the most beneficial remedy known to man. It has long been recognized (though not publicly) by the medical profession as the most valuable compound for the general restoration of the human system, by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition, as when these great organs are restored to a healthy action then the poisonous waste matter is expelled by the only blood-purifying organs of the system.

Few are aware that the kidneys are the only organs that can purify the blood.

Fancy the danger of poisoned blood continually coursing through the body—65 gallons of blood per hour, or 48 barrels per day, pass through the kidneys, yet the unsuspecting regard them as of little importance until they are stricken down. Poisoned blood engenders general debility, pneumonia, lung and bronchial troubles, paralysis, apoplexy, heart complications, rapidly failing eyesight, scrofulous and cancerous sores, and other serious maladies, which might be averted if the kidneys properly performed their work and expelled the poisonous waste matter.

When the medical profession will strike at the root instead of hewing the branches, then we can hope for a happy relief from many of the ills of the present day. When diseases are called by their right names, and the real causes of death are made known, instead of death from symptoms of kidney disease, it is then that the people will become more fully aware of the terrible fatality of diseases caused by imperfect action of the kidneys.

We have often used our columns for the benefit of our readers to proclaim the merits of the great remedy heretofore mentioned, which is daily becoming more popular, and we can but repeat the words so often used in their advertisements, which are very simple and very easy, and within the reach of all readers—viz., to ask your friends and neighbors about it.

I BELIEVE IT YET.

I.

There's some useful information that I got
from mother dear,
One evening when I went my girl to see;
She told me I had better be tasteful in my dress,
If from bitter disappointment I'd be free.
She told that Marks Jacobs made suits the handsomest;
That to his store was just the place to go,
That with his help I'd surely win the girl I
loved best:
I believed it, for my mother told me so

CHORUS.

She told me that a manly man should dress
in manly style,
And always like a gentleman should go;
That for this service I could trust Marks
Jacobs all the while;
I believed it, for my mother told me so.

II.

And so I went to Jacobs' store, 184 The Strand,
The next morning at the rising of the sun,
And picked me out the finest that this artist
had on hand,
And in just two days the suit complete
was done.
Then I hied me to the mansion where lived
my Katie Brown,
And her greeting was the sweetest man
can know;
She said I was the handsomest, the noblest
man in town;
I believed it, for my sweetheart told me so.

CHORUS.

She told me something better yet; she said
she would be mine,
That through this life with me she'd gladly go,
If I would wear Marks Jacobs' suits, so fitting,
neat and fine;
I believed it, for my Katie told me so.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE religious revival in Richmond, Va., has caused the liquor trade to fall off about 30 per cent. It is also a blow to the "Continental Sabbath."

MR. BLAINE denied yesterday the rumor that he was to resign. He expected to stay in his present office till he had accomplished some of the work which he began in 1881, and "of course throughout this administration."

ARTHUR O'CONNOR, in his testimony before the Parnell Commission in London yesterday, said that when he was in Indianapolis last year he heard Gen. Harrison, now President, say that every honest man and lover of liberty would rather share the company of William O'Brien in Tullamore jail than that of the Viceroy in Dublin Castle.

GEN. HARRISON did not go fishing yesterday, but visited Brooklyn and reviewed the parade of veterans. Mr. Cleveland left New York on Wednesday for Tuxedo Park, to remain out of sight of the soldiers till Decoration day was over. Two years ago Mr. Cleveland spent the day fishing. One year ago he went fishing for votes.

A RELIGIOUS sect calling itself the Pentecost Band has broken out in Tuscola, Ill., and already some of its apostles have suffered the martyrdom of the horsewhip. Their practices conform in some respects to those of the Mormons, and the women are "jinin" rapidly. If there is ever to be more church unity for the sake of decency as well as Christianity, there is need for it now.

GEN. SHERIDAN's monument in Arlington Cemetery was unveiled yesterday. Mrs. Sheridan put it up herself and paid for it out of her own scanty means. If she had buried her husband in New York and waited for the city to appropriately mark the spot, she would have seen only a little mound of earth. The ground for Gen. Grant's monument is not yet broken, though he has been dead nearly four years.

THOMAS F. GILROY, the new Commissioner of Public Works of New York, has discontinued twenty-nine offices and clerkships in his department which he has found needless. All the men turned out are County Democrats. The salaries range from $5,000 per year to $3 a day, and the yearly saving to the city is $53,596.50. "Gilroy's kite" is taking a higher flight than was expected, and the taxpayers would like to have it kept afloat.

CONGRESSMAN E. J. GAY of the third Louisiana district died at his home in Plaquemine yesterday afternoon. He had been dangerously ill for several weeks. The district contains a large Republican majority, and always chose a Republican until Mr. Gay's election to the 49th Congress. Gay's predecessor was Wm. P. Kellogg. The Republicans will make an effort to recapture it. Gay's death is the second among the members of the fifty-first Congress, Mr. Townshend's of Illinois being the first.

A TRAIN robber on the Milwaukee and Northwestern railroad succeeded in robbing a whole car full of passengers at Beaver, Wis., Wednesday night. He began with a brakeman, who "shelled out" without remonstrance. Then one passenger after another surrendered, and as each was robbed he compelled him to step into the aisle and walk ahead. When he had secured all the money in the car he backed out of the door and leaped from the train. He did all this with his little revolver.

ONE of the ladies who married a foreign title and was deceived, has resolved to make the best of a bad bargain. She is the Baroness VonSucrow, formerly Miss Constable of Baltimore, and the lady who followed her faithless spouse to London and Berlin but failed to find him. Both husband and bride have got back home, and he has promised to marry her next September under his real name, which nobody in America knows. Whether he has gained possession of the few millions withheld from him by an irate papa is not stated.

MAYOR GRANT appears to have got the New York Museum of Natural History about where he wants it. The Legislature authorized the issue of $400,000 worth of bonds for building an addition to the institution, and a committee of trustees called upon the Mayor the other day with a request to issue the bonds forthwith. The Mayor told them the act was not mandatory, and that he was in favor of opening the museum on Sunday. He therefore proposed to make this a condition of the issue. The committee argued against the opening, but the Mayor was firm, and they promised to consider it.

IN Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago, yesterday a quarrel broke out between some Grand Army men and a few members of the Old Soldiers and Sailors Association over an attempt by the latter to place flowers on the Soldiers' Home plot, the Grand Army men claiming exclusive control of the proceedings. The other men were provoked to threaten murder before they were permitted to leave their flowers, which were at last laid on the graves of Unionists and Confederates alike. Until this incident occurred it was supposed that every citizen had a right to honor the graves of the soldiers. Any attempt to make a monopoly of the business savors of arrogance and the "big head," and is likely to fail.

THE city has asked for proposals for building sewers in the First ward, the estimated cost being about $25,000. As security for the performance of this work a bond of double the amount of the entire cost of the sewers is required, or about $50,000. The reason for such an excessive and unreasonable bond is not apparent, unless it is to restrict the number of bidders to the few parties who may be able to give this large amount of security. A bond of $5,000 would be ample to indemnify the city against any possible loss in connection with the work, and with such a bond there would be a larger number of bidders, and lower prices would probably be obtained. If the Common Council do not wish to be regarded as trying to shove this work in the hands of favored parties, they will promptly reduce the amount of the bond.

THE CRONIN MURDER AT CHICAGO.

The Man Who is Supposed to Have "Driven the White Horse" Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A new arrest has been made in the Cronin case. The police believe the prisoner may be the man who drove the white horse which conveyed the Doctor to his death. The arrest was made in a lodging house, the records of which show that on the night of the murder the man did not put in an appearance until 12:10 A. M. He has expressed fear a number of times since that he would get into trouble in the Cronin matter, and tried to persuade the clerk to change the record of the hour at which he retired. The fellow is known by the sobriquet of "Mack." It is believed the man is one of the Williams brothers who hired the Carlson cottage, in which the deed was done.

The Death Record.

Ward Gregory, Postmaster of Ithaca, N. Y., died yesterday after many months of painful illness resulting from Bright's disease, complicated by heart difficulty.

Dr. S. P. Moore, who was Surgeon-General of the Confederate States, died suddenly at Richmond, Va., to-day, of congestion of the lungs.

Charles Gibbs, an old and well-known citizen of Burlington, died while sitting in a chair at his home yesterday.

William C. Spencer, of Hadlyme, Conn., died at Erie, Penn., yesterday, of heart disease, at the age of 64 years.

Congressman Edward J. Gay died at his plantation in Iberville Parish, Louisiana, yesterday afternoon.

Liquor Dealers in Trouble.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Many New-Jersey liquor dealers have been startled by the news that they are carrying on business illegally. According to the Werts Liquor law all existing liquor licenses were made void on May 20 of this year, and dealers who have failed to take out licenses since that date are liable to prosecution. The saloon-keeper who secured a license for this year before the new law went into effect will have to pay $250 for a new license, along with the dealers who have not yet taken out licenses. Brewers who pay for the licenses of saloon-keepers will be out thousands of dollars should the law be enforced by the Excise Board.

Blaine Will Not Resign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Secretary Blaine has said this to a friend here: "I see that the newspapers are resigning me again. I can stand it if they can. They do not seem to know that I took my present place to continue the work I began in 1881, and that I shall not resign until I have at least accomplished some of it. I expect, of course, to remain here throughout this administration."

Desecration of a Monument.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 31.—Much indignation was expressed yesterday morning when it was discovered that during the night some thoughtless or malicious persons had desecrated the costly soldiers' monument erected a year ago on one of the principal streets by placing an old derby hat on top of the musket and tying a knotted shirt to the statue's arm.

The President's Grand-daughter Christened.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sent to Prison for Zola.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Vizetelly, a well-known bookseller, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for publishing Zola's novels.

BEFORE THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Statements Made by Counsel in the Employ of the Parnellites.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, May 31.—Mr. Reid, of counsel for the Parnellites, stated before the Parnell Commission to-day that 30 of the League books would be produced before the Commission. Mr. Lockwood, also of counsel for the Parnellites, produced a book, which is alleged to have been Justin McCarthy's pass book. The book covered the period extending from November, 1880, to May, 1887. Among its entries was one of a check for £100, paid to Bryne. Mr. McCarthy took the stand and informed the Court that the book had never been in his possession, and he did not know before that it existed.

Washington Jottings.

In the case of the dressmaker who caused the arrest at Mentone, France, of three American ladies because they refused to pay for dresses which had not been furnished them, Secretary Blaine has instructed Minister Reid to demand a full apology for the insult and annoyance to the ladies, and also the dismissal of the offending official.

The National Museum has just received from A. C. Winslow, of Washington, who was Superintendent of the Mechanical Division of the Treasury from 1866 to 1877, the first key to the National Treasury, made when Alexander Hamilton was Secretary.

Mrs. Harrison and her daughter and father attended the Decoration ceremonies at Arlington.

Representatives Owen and Bowen were the President's only Congressional callers to-day.

Children Injured in New-York City To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, May 31.—An immense board sign, four feet wide and 25 feet long, was blown from the building 624 East Fourteenth-street, to-day, by the high wind. In its fall it tore away the coping and a lot of brick work. The debris fell on some children at play beneath and injured four of them, two probably fatally. The injured children are Ellen Wimmer, head badly cut; George Borneman, fractured skull and head badly cut, probably fatally injured; Frederick Seeb, severe scalp wound, and M. Seeb, head badly cut.

The St. Lawrence Canals.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Instructions have been issued by the Department of Railways and Canals for the opening of all the St. Lawrence canals from midnight Saturday until 6 o'clock Sunday evening. This order is the outcome of strong representations by Canadian forwarders that by closing the canals the whole of Sunday they are being discriminated against and that traffic is being diverted to the Erie Canal which otherwise would take the St. Lawrence route.

Killed by Lightning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CORYDON, Ind., May 31.—While Ephraim Kessner was returning from Leavenworth to his home on Wednesday evening lightning struck his wagon, in which were seated five persons besides himself, instantly killing his wife, and so severely shocking a lady named Cline that she has become insane. All the others were injured. The wagon was shattered and a horse was killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MONTREAL, May 31.—The steamship Ontario, which rumor said was lost in the Gulf yesterday with all hands, passed Rimouski going out yesterday afternoon and was then all right. The telegraph offices below Rimouski have heard nothing to indicate that it met with an accident. The Signal Service report for Anticosti and other points down the St. Lawrence, received this morning, make no reference to any marine disaster.

QUEBEC, May 31.—There is no truth in the report that the steamer Lake Ontario has been wrecked off Anticosti.

THAT MUDDLE ABOUT SAMOAN ISLANDS

Protocol Drawn Up—The Officers of the State Department Reticent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—State Department officials absolutely decline to discuss the Samoan Conference or the Behring Sea tangle. They admit that matters are in such shape as to warrant the expectation of a speedy conclusion of the Samoan Conference. As far as can be learned there is no new phase in the Behring Sea matter. The President's proclamation appears to have closed the history of the case and it cannot be learned that there has been any correspondence between the governments of the United States and Great Britain on the subject. According to the position taken by the United States Government by Congressional declaration the jurisdiction of the United States over the waters on the Alaskan side of Behaing's sea is not admitted to be a subject for negotiation. The government simply asserts its absolute right and admits the existence of no question for negotiation.

By Cable to The Freeman.

BERLIN, May 31.—The Samoan Conference will not meet again for several days. The Commissioners have agreed to the questions at issue and have drawn up a protocol. This has been telegraphed to the Governments interested, and it is expected replies will be received by wire. On their arrival a final formal sitting will be held.

Equipment of U. S. Vessel.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary Tracy has ordered that the Amphitrite, one of the uncompleted double-turreted monitors, lying at the Harland & Hollingsworth ship-yards at Wilmington, Del., shall be towed to the League Island Navy Yard and completed. Profiting by the recent events at Samoa, when the treasure of the wrecked Trenton was recovered by means of a diving apparatus borrowed from the British man-of-war Calliope, the Navy Department has determined to equip each naval vessel with a complete diving apparatus. A sub-marine diver will also be detailed as part of the complement of each vessel in commission.

The crews of the new gunboats Yorktown and Petrel, and vessels of that class, will be made up, as far as possible, of continuous service men. This will be done with a view to associating the apprentices with the better class of enlisted men.

SAFE AND SOUND.

The word "safe" is from the Latin "saluare," to save, preserve. Safe indicates freedom from harm or danger; sound, unscathed, undamaged, secure, whole, as safe from disease.

It is likewise regarded as conferring safety, to be relied upon. Its synonyms are secure, unendangered, sure. "Salutary" is from the same root, meaning health, safety. The term is defined by lexicographers as wholesome, healthful, promoting health; contributing to some beneficial purpose; salubrious, useful, advantagous, profitable, favorableness to the preservation of health and prosperity.

How fitting the word, as applied by Warner's Safe Remedies, which meet every requirement of both materia medica and etymology.

Their use protects from disease, and is a safeguard to the entire race.

Warner's Safe Cure has been extensively used in this and every other civilized country and is recognized as the most beneficial remedy known to man. It has long been recognized (though not publicly) by the medical profession as the most valuable compound for the general restoration of the human system, by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition, as when these great organs are restored to a healthy action then the poisonous waste matter is expelled by the only blood-purifying organs of the system.

Few are aware that the kidneys are the only organs that can purify the blood.

Fancy the danger of poisoned blood continually coursing through the body—65 gallons of blood per hour, or 48 barrels per day, pass through the kidneys, yet the unsuspecting regard them as of little importance until they are stricken down. Poisoned blood engenders general debility, pneumonia, lung and bronchial troubles, paralysis, apoplexy, heart complications, rapidly failing eyesight, scrofulous and cancerous sores, and other serious maladies, which might be averted if the kidneys properly performed their work and expelled the poisonous, waste matter.

When the medical profession will strike at the root instead of hewing the branches, then we can hope for a happy relief from many of the ills of the present day. When diseases are called by their right names, and the real causes of death are made known, instead of death from symptoms of kidney disease, it is then that the people will become more fully aware of the terrible fatality of diseases caused by imperfect action of the kidneys.

We have often used our columns for the benefit of our readers to proclaim the merits of the great remedy heretofore mentioned, which is daily becoming more popular, and we can but repeat the words so often used in their advertisements, which are very simple and very easy, and within the reach of all readers—viz., to ask your friends and neighbors about it.

I BELIEVE IT YET.

I.

There's some useful information that I got from mother dear,
One evening when I went my girl to see;
She told me I had better be tasteful in my dress,
If from bitter disappointment I'd be free.
She told that Marks Jacobs made suits the handsomest;
That to his store was just the place to go,
That with his help I'd surely win the girl I loved best:
I believed it, for my mother told me so

CHORUS.

She told me that a manly man should dress in manly style,
And always like a gentleman should go;
That for this service I could trust Marks Jacobs all the while;
I believed it, for my mother told me so.

II.

And so I went to Jacobs' store, 184 The Strand,
The next morning at the rising of the sun,
And picked me out the finest that this artist had on hand,
And in just two days the suit complete was done.
Then I hied me to the mansion where lived my Katie Brown,
And her greeting was the sweetest man can know;
She said I was the handsomest, the noblest man in town;
I believed it, for my sweetheart told me so.

CHORUS.

She told me something better yet; she said she would be mine,
That through this life with me she'd gladly go,
If I would wear Marks Jacobs' suits, so fitting, neat and fine;
I believed it, for my Katie told me so.

Marks Jacobs.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, May 31. — Indications for Saturday: Threatening weather and rain, cooler, winds shifting to south-westerly.

AN INTEMPERATE CRITICISM.

Prohibition might for a time remove the saloon from the chief thoroughfares; but if the sale of drink be driven into back rooms and alleys; if men be compelled to resort to skulking in order to drink; if worse associations be brought around every bar and more and deadlier vices come where the intoxicating cup is sold; if the liquor business be taken from the eyes of the police and from the jealous watchfulness of all good people, both patriotism and religion might well ally their forces to spare society from the passage of a law that might entail more aggravated horrors than those which now confront us.

The above are the words of Rev. Mr. Swentzel, rector of a Protestant Episcopal church in Scranton, Pa. The gentleman is opposed, and rightly so, to the present Prohibition movement in his state, where excellent results are being realized from the high license law.

But is there not danger of overdoing among the many good men who have joined in a crusade to howl down Prohibition? It is not the wicked thing that it is too often painted. Its error is in looking for immediate results, whereas it is a reform so radical as to call for time and patience. This generation is not likely to live to see it. So good abolitionists prayed and labored fifty years ago for the deliverance of the land from slavery, but "died without the sight." And yet the deliverance came.

Prohibition to-day is one of the many methods supported by different individuals for the lessening of the evils of the liquor traffic. "Prohibition does not prohibit," is the argument of its enemies, and beyond doubt they speak the truth. But that it does accomplish good results is proved in those localities which, taking advantage of our present local option law, vote down license. The principle of prohibition is involved in this local option law, and it is applied wherever no license is voted. What is the result? In towns where it is carried for a single year and then defeated, it does not count for much. But in towns where the people go on voting no license year after year, it does prohibit. There are towns by the score in this state in which not a drop of liquor has been sold for years. There is Potter county, Pennsylvania, where no saloon exists simply because there is no trade for it, and it makes no difference now whether license is voted up or down. And if in other places it drives the trade into back rooms and alleys, as the Reverend Swentzel declares, the good accomplished outweighs the evil, his opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. For young men and other men who have not formed the alcohol appetite, do not resort to skulking in order to drink, and they scorn to abet lawbreakers. When to obtain a drink involves a violation of the law, the business will become unpopular with self-respecting men and with all who are not tortured by the fires of appetite. The drunkards will continue to drink, but when they disappear there will be none to take their places.

High license, combined with local option, is solving the drink problem. It succeeds and is popular and productive of good results wherever tried. State after state has adopted it and found it easy of enforcement. And it is apparent that it is driving the liquor trade into closer quarters and weakening its political power. When Philadelphia cut out some thousands of saloons last year there was an outcry against the radicalism of the Excise Court, and plenty of predictions that its action could not be sustained. But when the court met again this year it cut out several hundred more. Is there any man so blind as not to see the tendency? The liquor trade of Philadelphia is doomed, simply by the operations of this high license law. Each year will witness a diminution of the saloons until all are gone, and then there will be prohibition

Let us be patient with those over-earnest souls who cannot wait, chiefly because they cannot see the end from the beginning. They are not the advance but the rear guard of the great army that is marching to the overthrow of the citadels of intemperance and crime. All efforts in this direction point to the same ultimate result, for men grow better and better, and by and by they will not touch intoxicants as beverages at all. Every man is a Prohibitionist at heart who says No to every invitation and every impulse to take a drink. And Prohibition is going to come, not through politics but through the solid and resolute combination of all good men in favor of every measure that makes for sobriety and the obedience of law. Pennsylvania will not adopt Prohibition two weeks hence, but the vote on the question will make her draw her high license restrictions a little more tightly, and thus the work will go on.

NOTHING WILL SUIT THESE PEOPLE.

The Central Labor Union of Buffalo asks Gov. Hill to veto the Fassett prison labor bill. The argument is that the piece price plan is provided for, and that this is only "a revival of the contract system under a disguise." The objection is also presented that "owing to a glutted market in various branches of industry over 20 per cent of the workingmen can only find employment during a comparatively short season." The Union contends further that the state has not the right "to interfere with our employment, by throwing goods upon the market that will increase idleness, pauperism and crime."

The Fassett bill is the best prison labor measure yet devised, and it is probable that no other providing for the employment of the prisoners will be enacted soon if this one is vetoed. It is humane; it looks to the moral improvement of the prisoner and his usefulness after his release; and the profit of the state is made a consideration secondary to this. If the convicts are to work at all, it is to be hoped that the Governor will approve the bill. It was drawn with great care, and was commended by the highest authorities on the subject of prison discipline. It was introduced in the Assembly by Dr. Bush, the Democratic member from the Governor's own county, and passed by the aid of many Democratic votes. This would indicate that the opinion of the Governor was favorable to the bill. We cannot believe that he will yield to the clamors of a band of Labor agitators and veto it.

We suspect that these Labor organizations do not want the prisoners to work at all, and that they will never be satisfied with any bill that proposes employment. If their interest were the only one to be considered this policy might prevail, but the tax-payers are a large and influential element, and usually have something to say on the question. The statement that over 20 per cent of the workingmen fail to get steady employment is startling, but the remedy will have to be sought in another way. Let our law-makers forbid the importation of foreign workingmen for a few years. These people come here and contribute a liberal percentage of the inmates of the prisons. Those who do not get into prison exercise their right to get into employment with the same energy as other men, and hence somebody is crowded out. The laws enacted against the Chinese should be extended to include workingmen of other nationalities until those now here have found steady employment and more are needed. They must not be allowed to dictate who shall and who shall not work, whether convicts or free men. There is no reason why the man who has the misfortune to become a convict should be prohibited from paying the expense of his maintenance. And if it makes a better man of him, and a safe man when he regains his liberty, society has a vital interest in his reformation.

THAT SPECK OF WAR

There is not going to be immediate war between the United States and England over the seal fishery question in Behring Sea. In the English House of Commons last evening Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, denied the report from Victoria, B. C., that three men-of-war had been ordered to the Alaskan waters to protect British sealing vessels. The Department of Fisheries at Ottawa is also without information on the subject. At Washington it is believed that the story was started by some petty official of the British Navy who had indulged too freely in beer. The British Government has never given notice to the United States that she would dispute the sovereignity of the Behring Sea. Until this is done, more extreme measures are not likely to be resorted to. A diplomatic consultation would at least precede any overt act of war.

A dispatch from Victoria states that all the talk was caused by a naval officer of high rank, who got so drunk on champagne that he probably felt able to whip the United States alone. When the Admiral heard of it he placed the blustering officer under arrest.

PUBLIC OPINION.

There are mothers in this city who send their little girls to the worst saloons for pails of beer, and there are fathers in this city who are led home from the saloons by their little sons. What will the harvest be?—Detroit Tribune.

The talented young journalist who "interviewed Dr. Cronin in Toronto" a few days after his death does not claim to be a spirit medium. He is merely a plain, earnest, hard-working, conscientious liar.—Kansas City Times.

Democracy has overleaped itself in New Jersey in its attempt to please the liquor sellers. It got up a law to please them, and now finds that the pet invention is a severe temperance act. A party which tries to turn a double somersault and land in its own vest pocket usually tumbles into the mud without any aid from its enemies.—New York Press.

It is suggested that the passage of the ballot reform bill will make Missouri a doubtful state. All the more credit, therefore, to the Democratic Legislature for passing it. By the way, was it a fear that such law would take New York out of the list of doubtful states, and make it permanently Republican, that in part at least inspired Governor Hill's veto of the Saxton measure?—New York Tribune.

Let the free trade deification of Grover Cleveland go on. Between his nomination and that of a man from the West—the Democratic papers say it must be one or the other—we do not know that Republicans have any preference. The Democrats did precisely what the Republicans desired in 1888, in the way of candidate and platform, and we do not see how they can well avoid doing us an equally great favor in 1892, though perhaps in a different way.—Cleveland Leader.

Secretary Windom sustains the worsted decisions of Collector Erhardt. The foreign manufacturer is not to be permitted to evade the duty on woolen manufactures by giving another name to goods made largely of wool. The Secretary construes the statute as the Collector did, as it was intended to be construed, for the benefit of the home manufacturer rather than the foreigner. Therein he differs from his free trade predecessor, who classified these goods as worsted cloths. As woolens these goods must pay 35 cents per pound and 35 per cent ad valorem.—Utica Herald.

SNAITH'S CHEEK.

What May Result from It—Let the Attorney General do His Duty.

[From the New York Press.]

For cool, calm, collected, diamond-drill proof assurance Mr. Contractor Snaith of Assembly ceiling infamy controls the whole culinary market. He worked on a contract by which the state paid over $100,000 more than the legitimate profits; he was paid $14,000 more than was due on one installment: he ran away when an investigation was being made, and now he has come back and asked for a balance of $40,000 with an impudence only equaled by his unconscientious cupidity.

This man ought to remember that the whitewashing report has not effected an estoppel of a possible suit against him and his tool, Andrews, for conspiring to defraud the state. His attention should be called to the fact that the public wish to have the whole machinery of this iniquity uncovered, even if some of the wires by which it was worked should be found to lead to the Executive Mansion.

It may be a good thing for the state that he has made this demand. The people were beginning to forget the fraud. Now, however, that their attention has been recalled to it, they will insist upon a judicial investigation in tones which must be heard—even in an Attorney General's office which is controlled by Democratic influences.

Keep on asking for this money, Mr. Snaith. Your action may bring about results upon which the tax-payers can congratulate themselves.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, May 31. — Indications for Saturday: Threatening weather and rain, cooler, winds shifting to south-westerly.

AN INTEMPERATE CRITICISM.

Prohibition might for a time remove the saloon from the chief thoroughfares; but if the sale of drink be driven into back rooms and alleys; if men be compelled to resort to skulking in order to drink; if worse associations be brought around every bar and more and deadlier vices come where the intoxicating cup is sold; if the liquor business be taken from the eyes of the police and from the jealous watchfulness of all good people, both patriotism and religion might well ally their forces to spare society from the passage of a law that might entail more aggravated horrors than those which now confront us.

The above are the words of Rev. Mr. Swentzel, rector of a Protestant Episcopal church in Scranton, Pa. The gentleman is opposed, and rightly so, to the present Prohibition movement in his state, where excellent results are being realized from the high license law.

But is there not danger of overdoing among the many good men who have joined in a crusade to howl down Prohibition? It is not the wicked thing that it is too often painted. Its error is in looking for immediate results, whereas it is a reform so radical as to call for time and patience. This generation is not likely to live to see it. So good abolitionists prayed and labored fifty years ago for the deliverance of the land from slavery, but "died without the sight." And yet the deliverance came.

Prohibition to-day is one of the many methods supported by different individuals for the lessening of the evils of the liquor traffic. "Prohibition does not prohibit," is the argument of its enemies, and beyond doubt they speak the truth. But that it does accomplish good results is proved in those localities which, taking advantage of our present local option law, vote down license. The principle of prohibition is involved in this local option law, and it is applied wherever no license is voted. What is the result? In towns where it is carried for a single year and then defeated, it does not count for much. But in towns where the people go on voting no license year after year, it does prohibit. There are towns by the score in this state in which not a drop of liquor has been sold for years. There is Potter county, Pennsylvania, where no saloon exists simply because there is no trade for it, and it makes no difference now whether license is voted up or down. And if in other places it drives the trade into back rooms and alleys, as the Reverend Swentzel declares, the good accomplished outweighs the evil, his opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. For young men and other men who have not formed the alcohol appetite, do not resort to skulking in order to drink, and they scorn to abet lawbreakers. When to obtain a drink involves a violation of the law, the business will become unpopular with self-respecting men and with all who are not tortured by the fires of appetite. The drunkards will continue to drink, but when they disappear there will be none to take their places.

High license, combined with local option, is solving the drink problem. It succeeds and is popular and productive of good results wherever tried. State after state has adopted it and found it easy of enforcement. And it is apparent that it is driving the liquor trade into closer quarters and weakening its political power. When Philadelphia cut out some thousands of saloons last year there was an outcry against the radicalism of the Excise Court, and plenty of predictions that its action could not be sustained. But when the court met again this year it cut out several hundred more. Is there any man so blind as not to see the tendency? The liquor trade of Philadelphia is doomed, simply by the operations of this high license law. Each year will witness a diminution of the saloons until all are gone, and then there will be prohibition

Let us be patient with those over-earnest souls who cannot wait, chiefly because they cannot see the end from the beginning. They are not the advance but the rear guard of the great army that is marching to the overthrow of the citadels of intemperance and crime. All efforts in this direction point to the same ultimate result, for men grow better and better, and by and by they will not touch intoxicants as beverages at all. Every man is a Prohibitionist at heart who says No to every invitation and every impulse to take a drink. And Prohibition is going to come, not through politics but through the solid and resolute combination of all good men in favor of every measure that makes for sobriety and the obedience of law. Pennsylvania will not adopt Prohibition two weeks hence, but the vote on the question will make her draw her high license restrictions a little more tightly, and thus the work will go on.

The Central Labor Union of Buffalo asks Gov. Hill to veto the Fassett prison labor bill. The argument is that the piece price plan is provided for, and that this is only "a revival of the contract system under a disguise." The objection is also presented that "owing to a glutted market in various branches of industry over 20 per cent of the workingmen can only find employment during a comparatively short season." The Union contends further that the state has not the right "to interfere with our employment, by throwing goods upon the market that will increase idleness, pauperism and crime."

The Fassett bill is the best prison labor measure yet devised, and it is probable that no other providing for the employment of the prisoners will be enacted soon if this one is vetoed. It is humane; it looks to the moral improvement of the prisoner and his usefulness after his release; and the profit of the state is made a consideration secondary to this. If the convicts are to work at all, it is to be hoped that the Governor will approve the bill. It was drawn with great care, and was commended by the highest authorities on the subject of prison discipline. It was introduced in the Assembly by Dr. Bush, the Democratic member from the Governor's own county, and passed by the aid of many Democratic votes. This would indicate that the opinion of the Governor was favorable to the bill. We cannot believe that he will yield to the clamors of a band of Labor agitators and veto it.

We suspect that these Labor organizations do not want the prisoners to work at all, and that they will never be satisfied with any bill that proposes employment. If their interest were the only one to be considered this policy might prevail, but the tax-payers are a large and influential element, and usually have something to say on the question.

The statement that over 20 per cent of the workingmen fail to get steady employment is startling, but the remedy will have to be sought in another way. Let our law-makers forbid the importation of foreign workingmen for a few years. These people come here and contribute a liberal percentage of the inmates of the prisons. Those who do not get into prison exercise their right to get into employment with the same energy as other men, and hence somebody is crowded out. The laws enacted against the Chinese should be extended to include workingmen of other nationalities until those now here have found steady employment and more are needed. They must not be allowed to dictate who shall and who shall not work, whether convicts or free men. There is no reason why the man who has the misfortune to become a convict should be prohibited from paying the expense of his maintenance. And if it makes a better man of him, and a safe man when he regains his liberty, society has a vital interest in his reformation.

THAT SPECK OF WAR

There is not going to be immediate war between the United States and England over the seal fishery question in Behring Sea. In the English House of Commons last evening Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, denied the report from Victoria, B. C., that three men-of-war had been ordered to the Alaskan waters to protect British sealing vessels. The Department of Fisheries at Ottawa is also without information on the subject. At Washington it is believed that the story was started by some petty official of the British Navy who had indulged too freely in beer. The British Government has never given notice to the United States that she would dispute the sovereignity of the Behring Sea. Until this is done, more extreme measures are not likely to be resorted to. A diplomatic consultation would at least precede any overt act of war.

A dispatch from Victoria states that all the talk was caused by a naval officer of high rank, who got so drunk on champagne that he probably felt able to whip the United States alone. When the Admiral heard of it he placed the blustering officer under arrest.

PUBLIC OPINION.

There are mothers in this city who send their little girls to the worst saloons for pails of beer, and there are fathers in this city who are led home from the saloons by their little sons. What will the harvest be?—Detroit Tribune.

The talented young journalist who "interviewed Dr. Cronin in Toronto" a few days after his death does not claim to be a spirit medium. He is merely a plain, earnest, hard-working, conscientious liar.—Kansas City Times.

Democracy has overleaped itself in New Jersey in its attempt to please the liquor sellers. It got up a law to please them, and now finds that the pet invention is a severe temperance act. A party which tries to turn a double somersault and land in its own vest pocket usually tumbles into the mud without any aid from its enemies.—New York Press.

It is suggested that the passage of the ballot reform bill will make Missouri a doubtful state. All the more credit, therefore, to the Democratic Legislature for passing it. By the way, was it a fear that such law would take New York out of the list of doubtful states, and make it permanently Republican, that in part at least inspired Governor Hill's veto of the Saxton measure?—New York Tribune.

Let the free trade deification of Grover Cleveland go on. Between his nomination and that of a man from the West—the Democratic papers say it must be one or the other—we do not know that Republicans have any preference. The Democrats did precisely what the Republicans desired in 1888, in the way of candidate and platform, and we do not see how they can well avoid doing us an equally great favor in 1892, though perhaps in a different way.—Cleveland Leader.

Secretary Windom sustains the worsted decisions of Collector Erhardt. The foreign manufacturer is not to be permitted to evade the duty on woolen manufactures by giving another name to goods made largely of wool. The Secretary construes the statute as the Collector did, as it was intended to be construed, for the benefit of the home manufacturer rather than the foreigner. Therein he differs from his free trade predecessor, who classified these goods as worsted cloths. As woolens these goods must pay 35 cents per pound and 35 per cent ad valorem.—Utica Herald.

SNAITH'S CHEEK.

What May Result from It—Let the Attorney General do His Duty.

[From the New York Press.]

For cool, calm, collected, diamond-drill proof assurance Mr. Contractor Snaith of Assembly ceiling infamy controls the whole culinary market. He worked on a contract by which the state paid over $100,000 more than the legitimate profits; he was paid $14,000 more than was due on one installment; he ran away when an investigation was being made, and now he has come back and asked for a balance of $40,000 with an impudence only equaled by his unconscientious cupidity.

This man ought to remember that the whitewashing report has not effected an estoppel of a possible suit against him and his tool, Andrews, for conspiring to defraud the state. His attention should be called to the fact that the public wish to have the whole machinery of this iniquity uncovered, even if some of the wires by which it was worked should be found to lead to the Executive Mansion.

It may be a good thing for the state that he has made this demand. The people were beginning to forget the fraud. Now, however, that their attention has been recalled to it, they will insist upon a judicial investigation in tones which must be heard—even in an Attorney General's office which is controlled by Democratic influences.

Keep on asking for this money, Mr. Snaith. Your action may bring about results upon which the tax-payers can congratulate themselves.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, May 31. — Indications for Saturday: Threatening weather and rain, cooler, winds shifting to south-westerly.

AN INTEMPERATE CRITICISM.

Prohibition might for a time remove the saloon from the chief thoroughfares; but if the sale of drink be driven into back rooms and alleys; if men be compelled to resort to skulking in order to drink; if worse associations be brought around every bar and more and deadlier vices come where the intoxicating cup is sold; if the liquor business be taken from the eyes of the police and from the jealous watchfulness of all good people, both patriotism and religion might well ally their forces to spare society from the passage of a law that might entail more aggravated horrors than those which now confront us.

The above are the words of Rev. Mr. Swentzel, rector of a Protestant Episcopal church in Scranton, Pa. The gentleman is opposed, and rightly so, to the present Prohibition movement in his state, where excellent results are being realized from the high license law.

But is there not danger of overdoing among the many good men who have joined in a crusade to howl down Prohibition? It is not the wicked thing that it is too often painted. Its error is in looking for immediate results, whereas it is a reform so radical as to call for time and patience. This generation is not likely to live to see it. So good abolitionists prayed and labored fifty years ago for the deliverance of the land from slavery, but "died without the sight." And yet the deliverance came.

Prohibition to-day is one of the many methods supported by different individuals for the lessening of the evils of the liquor traffic. "Prohibition does not prohibit," is the argument of its enemies, and beyond doubt they speak the truth. But that it does accomplish good results is proved in those localities which, taking advantage of our present local option law, vote down license. The principle of prohibition is involved in this local option law, and it is applied wherever no license is voted. What is the result? In towns where it is carried for a single year and then defeated, it does not count for much. But in towns where the people go on voting no license year after year, it does prohibit. There are towns by the score in this state in which not a drop of liquor has been sold for years. There is Potter county, Pennsylvania, where no saloon exists simply because there is no trade for it, and it makes no difference now whether license is voted up or down. And if in other places it drives the trade into back rooms and alleys, as the Reverend Swentzel declares, the good accomplished outweighs the evil, his opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. For young men and other men who have not formed the alcohol appetite, do not resort to skulking in order to drink, and they scorn to abet lawbreakers. When to obtain a drink involves a violation of the law, the business will become unpopular with self-respecting men and with all who are not tortured by the fires of appetite. The drunkards will continue to drink, but when they disappear there will be none to take their places.

High license, combined with local option, is solving the drink problem. It succeeds and is popular and productive of good results wherever tried. State after state has adopted it and found it easy of enforcement. And it is apparent that it is driving the liquor trade into closer quarters and weakening its political power. When Philadelphia cut out some thousands of saloons last year there was an outcry against the radicalism of the Excise Court, and plenty of predictions that its action could not be sustained. But when the court met again this year it cut out several hundred more. Is there any man so blind as not to see the tendency? The liquor trade of Philadelphia is doomed, simply by the operations of this high license law. Each year will witness a diminution of the saloons until all are gone, and then there will be prohibition

Let us be patient with those over-earnest souls who cannot wait, chiefly because they cannot see the end from the beginning. They are not the advance but the rear guard of the great army that is marching to the overthrow of the citadels of intemperance and crime. All efforts in this direction point to the same ultimate result, for men grow better and better, and by and by they will not touch intoxicants as beverages at all. Every man is a Prohibitionist at heart who says No to every invitation and every impulse to take a drink. And Prohibition is going to come, not through politics but through the solid and resolute combination of all good men in favor of every measure that makes for sobriety and the obedience of law. Pennsylvania will not adopt Prohibition two weeks hence, but the vote on the question will make her draw her high license restrictions a little more tightly, and thus the work will go on.

The Central Labor Union of Buffalo asks Gov. Hill to veto the Fassett prison labor bill. The argument is that the piece price plan is provided for, and that this is only "a revival of the contract system under a disguise." The objection is also presented that "owing to a glutted market in various branches of industry over 20 per cent of the workingmen can only find employment during a comparatively short season." The Union contends further that the state has not the right "to interfere with our employment, by throwing goods upon the market that will increase idleness, pauperism and crime."

The Fassett bill is the best prison labor measure yet devised, and it is probable that no other providing for the employment of the prisoners will be enacted soon if this one is vetoed. It is humane; it looks to the moral improvement of the prisoner and his usefulness after his release; and the profit of the state is made a consideration secondary to this. If the convicts are to work at all, it is to be hoped that the Governor will approve the bill. It was drawn with great care, and was commended by the highest authorities on the subject of prison discipline. It was introduced in the Assembly by Dr. Bush, the Democratic member from the Governor's own county, and passed by the aid of many Democratic votes. This would indicate that the opinion of the Governor was favorable to the bill. We cannot believe that he will yield to the clamors of a band of Labor agitators and veto it.

We suspect that these Labor organizations do not want the prisoners to work at all, and that they will never be satisfied with any bill that proposes employment. If their interest were the only one to be considered this policy might prevail, but the tax-payers are a large and influential element, and usually have something to say on the question. The statement that over 20 per cent of the workingmen fail to get steady employment is startling, but the remedy will have to be sought in another way. Let our law-makers forbid the importation of foreign workingmen for a few years. These people come here and contribute a liberal percentage of the inmates of the prisons. Those who do not get into prison exercise their right to get into employment with the same energy as other men, and hence somebody is crowded out. The laws enacted against the Chinese should be extended to include workingmen of other nationalities until those now here have found steady employment and more are needed. They must not be allowed to dictate who shall and who shall not work, whether convicts or free men. There is no reason why the man who has the misfortune to become a convict should be prohibited from paying the expense of his maintenance. And if it makes a better man of him, and a safe man when he regains his liberty, society has a vital interest in his reformation.

THAT SPECK OF WAR

There is not going to be immediate war between the United States and England over the seal fishery question in Behring Sea. In the English House of Commons last evening Sir James Fergusson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, denied the report from Victoria, B. C., that three men-of-war had been ordered to the Alaskan waters to protect British sealing vessels. The Department of Fisheries at Ottawa is also without information on the subject. At Washington it is believed that the story was started by some petty official of the British Navy who had indulged too freely in beer. The British Government has never given notice to the United States that she would dispute the sovereignity of the Behring Sea. Until this is done, more extreme measures are not likely to be resorted to. A diplomatic consultation would at least precede any overt act of war.

A dispatch from Victoria states that all the talk was caused by a naval officer of high rank, who got so drunk on champagne that he probably felt able to whip the United States alone. When the Admiral heard of it he placed the blustering officer under arrest.

PUBLIC OPINION.

There are mothers in this city who send their little girls to the worst saloons for pails of beer, and there are fathers in this city who are led home from the saloons by their little sons. What will the harvest be?—Detroit Tribune.

The talented young journalist who "interviewed Dr. Cronin in Toronto" a few days after his death does not claim to be a spirit medium. He is merely a plain, earnest, hard-working, conscientious liar.—Kansas City Times.

Democracy has overleaped itself in New Jersey in its attempt to please the liquor sellers. It got up a law to please them, and now finds that the pet invention is a severe temperance act. A party which tries to turn a double somersault and land in its own vest pocket usually tumbles into the mud without any aid from its enemies.—New York Press.

It is suggested that the passage of the ballot reform bill will make Missouri a doubtful state. All the more credit, therefore, to the Democratic Legislature for passing it. By the way, was it a fear that such law would take New York out of the list of doubtful states, and make it permanently Republican, that in part at least inspired Governor Hill's veto of the Saxton measure?—New York Tribune.

Let the free trade deification of Grover Cleveland go on. Between his nomination and that of a man from the West—the Democratic papers say it must be one or the other—we do not know that Republicans have any preference. The Democrats did precisely what the Republicans desired in 1888, in the way of candidate and platform, and we do not see how they can well avoid doing us an equally great favor in 1892, though perhaps in a different way.—Cleveland Leader.

Secretary Windom sustains the worsted decisions of Collector Erhardt. The foreign manufacturer is not to be permitted to evade the duty on woolen manufactures by giving another name to goods made largely of wool. The Secretary construes the statute as the Collector did, as it was intended to be construed, for the benefit of the home manufacturer rather than the foreigner. Therein he differs from his free trade predecessor, who classified these goods as worsted cloths. As woolens these goods must pay 35 cents per pound and 35 per cent ad valorem.—Utica Herald.

SNAITH'S CHEEK.

What May Result from It—Let the Attorney General do His Duty.

[From the New York Press.]

For cool, calm, collected, diamond-drill proof assurance Mr. Contractor Snaith of Assembly ceiling infamy controls the whole culinary market. He worked on a contract by which the state paid over $100,000 more than the legitimate profits; he was paid $14,000 more than was due on one installment; he ran away when an investigation was being made, and now he has come back and asked for a balance of $40,000 with an impudence only equaled by his unconscientious cupidity.

This man ought to remember that the whitewashing report has not effected an estoppel of a possible suit against him and his tool, Andrews, for conspiring to defraud the state. His attention should be called to the fact that the public wish to have the whole machinery of this iniquity uncovered, even if some of the wires by which it was worked should be found to lead to the Executive Mansion.

It may be a good thing for the state that he has made this demand. The people were beginning to forget the fraud. Now, however, that their attention has been recalled to it, they will insist upon a judicial investigation in tones which must be heard—even in an Attorney General's office which is controlled by Democratic influences.

Keep on asking for this money, Mr. Snaith. Your action may bring about results upon which the tax-payers can congratulate themselves.

Are you wasting slowly but surely away from the effects of female weaknesses? Are you wan, pale, and nervous? Do you not sometimes feel that life is losing its attractions, and that you are gradually sinking into a decline which, if not taken in hand promptly, will end in an early death? Yes, you have felt all these things, and doubtless know that tens of thousands of once rosy cheeked, plump, healthy girls and women go into their graves every year solely because these weaknesses were allowed to sap up the well springs of life till nature could no longer stand the strain. FIERCE GALE ON THE LAKES

VESSELS REPORTED WIND-BOUND AND DRIVEN ON SHORE.

At Port Huron the Gale Reached a Velocity of Forty-Eight Miles an Hour—The Storm, it is Stated, is Rapidly Moving Eastward—The Storm Elsewhere.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Yesterday and last night a fierce gale raged over Lakes Ontario and Erie and portions of Lakes Huron and Michigan. All around the lakes vessels are reported wind-bound and driven ashore. At Chicago the wind reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour and a number of vessels were forced to anchor outside. At Port Huron the white caps were driven before a gale of 48 miles, and across the river at Sarnia a fleet of big boats was tied up afraid to move. The storm is moving eastward and Lake Michigan will probably be free from unusual wind to-day. At 7 o'clock last night a north wind was blowing at the following ports with the velocities indicated: Chicago, 40 miles an hour; Milwaukee, 42 miles; Port Huron, 48 miles; Green Bay, 38 miles; Detroit, 35 miles; Toledo, 35 miles; Sandusky, 36 miles. Two women who were in a little frame kitchen were hurled 20 feet and seriously injured. A barn in which George Vogel and J. Powell had taken refuge was blown down and the men were killed. The damage to crops is great.

A TORNADO IN WEST VIRGINIA.

It is Reported That a "Vast Amount of Property" was Destroyed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 31.—A tornado struck a section of country five miles east of here yesterday afternoon and after demolishing a vast amount of property passed down the Potomac River, up-rooting trees, overturning small vessels and playing havoc generally with small buildings near the banks of the stream. The storm traveled over an area of 10 miles and then disappeared to the eastward. Very few trees were left standing along the water front. Those that escaped were twisted out of shape. The house of Martin Borien, which stood directly in the tornado's path, was lifted from the foundations.

Stirred Up a Hornets' Nest.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 31.—Yesterday the ladies of Fort Smith, both wives and daughters of Federals and confederates, were out in large numbers. Thomas H. Barnes, lawyer, made a patriotic speech. After he had finished Hon. Mr. Kelly, of Kansas was introduced. Among other things he said: "The State of Arkansas is in disrepute. Comrades Benjamin and Clayton were assassinated in this State because they were loyal to the flag of their country. The eyes of the entire country are upon Arkansas." Further on he said his State Legislature had passed resolutions denouncing Arkansas and calling upon the National Government to protect its people, even if it had to put it under martial law. The speaker continued: "I am a Congressman and, comrades, I will see that you are protected if my influence and power can effect it, even if we have to resort to martial law." The indignation of the citizens at this speech culminated in a large meeting at the Court House, composed of Republicans and Democrats. Resolutions, reported by a committee composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, were unanimously adopted, denouncing Kelly's speech as containing false charges and insinuations, and being in bad taste on such a sacred occasion, and claiming that the laws of Arkansas are as rigidly enforced as those of any state of the Union. Kelly's son resides here, and is part owner of the Republican paper of this City.

Inaugurating a Sunday Campaign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—The Sunday School Association is about to open anew the campaign against violations of the Sunday law of 1794, and is preparing to prosecute actively all offenders who shall be shown to be breaking the Sabbath by keeping their shops open and doing business upon that day. The particular basis of the present movement is the action of a small storekeeper near the Thirteenth-Street M. E. Church, who is accused of selling candy to the Sunday School scholars before and after the sessions of the Sabbath school. The effect of the candy was such that the Sunday school teachers rose up in arms against the storekeeper and summarily placed the matter in the hands of the Sabbath Association. All is in readiness for a grand swoop upon cigar and candy stores, ice-cream saloons, barber shops and all manner of establishments where business is transacted on Sunday. The Thirteenth-street storekeeper's case is in the hands of the Association's Legislative Committee.

FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD PRESENTED IN FEW WORDS.

Prolonged Shocks of Earthquake—An English Syndicate Buys Many Acres of Land in Florida and Alabama—No Yellow Fever in Florida Since January.

The latest and decidedly the most original use to which the automatic slot machine has been put is in connection with the illuminating gas supply of big cities. A gas company in Liverpool, England, has set the fashion by introducing the automatic meter into the houses of its consumers. By dropping a penny in the slot each one can obtain about twenty-five cubic feet of gas. When the first installment runs out another penny insures light for a longer period.

An English syndicate yesterday completed at Louisville, Ky., the purchase of 320,000 acres of yellow pine land, four saw mills, three planing mills, and 36 miles of railroad and equipment. The property is situated in Escambia County, Fla., and Baldwin County, Ala., adjoining. The price paid was $1,500,000. The sellers were the Muscovia Lumber Company, the Michigan Lumber Company, and the G. W. Robinson Company.

A prolonged shock of earthquake was felt in the Channel Islands yesterday. The disturbances were also experienced in many towns on the mainland of England and France. Among the places included are Portsmouth, Havant, Cherbourg, Havre, Rouen, Granville and Caen. No damage was done anywhere. The shock was also felt on the left bank of the Seine, France, to-day.

FIERCE GALE ON THE LAKES

VESSELS REPORTED WIND-BOUND AND DRIVEN ON SHORE.

At Port Huron the Gale Reached a Velocity of Forty-Eight Miles an Hour—The Storm, it is Stated, is Rapidly Moving Eastward—The Storm Elsewhere.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Yesterday and last night a fierce gale raged over Lakes Ontario and Erie and portions of Lakes Huron and Michigan. All around the lakes vessels are reported wind-bound and driven ashore. At Chicago the wind reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour and a number of vessels were forced to anchor outside. At Port Huron the white caps were driven before a gale of 48 miles, and across the river at Sarnia a fleet of big boats was tied up afraid to move. The storm is moving eastward and Lake Michigan will probably be free from unusual wind to-day. At 7 o'clock last night a north wind was blowing at the following ports with the velocities indicated: Chicago, 40 miles an hour; Milwaukee, 42 miles; Port Huron, 48 miles; Green Bay, 38 miles; Detroit, 35 miles; Toledo, 35 miles; Sandusky, 36 miles. Two women who were in a little frame kitchen were hurled 20 feet and seriously injured. A barn in which George Vogel and J. Powell had taken refuge was blown down and the men were killed. The damage to crops is great.

A TORNADO IN WEST VIRGINIA.

It is Reported That a "Vast Amount of Property" was Destroyed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 31.—A tornado struck a section of country five miles east of here yesterday afternoon and after demolishing a vast amount of property passed down the Potomac River, up-rooting trees, overturning small vessels and playing havoc generally with small buildings near the banks of the stream. The storm traveled over an area of 10 miles and then disappeared to the eastward. Very few trees were left standing along the water front. Those that escaped were twisted out of shape. The house of Martin Borien, which stood directly in the tornado's path, was lifted from the foundations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 31.—Yesterday the ladies of Fort Smith, both wives and daughters of Federals and confederates, were out in large numbers. Thomas H. Barnes, lawyer, made a patriotic speech. After he had finished Hon. Mr. Kelly, of Kansas was introduced. Among other things he said: "The State of Arkansas is in disrepute. Comrades Benjamin and Clayton were assassinated in this State because they were loyal to the flag of their country. The eyes of the entire country are upon Arkansas." Further on he said his State Legislature had passed resolutions denouncing Arkansas and calling upon the National Government to protect its people, even if it had to put it under martial law. The speaker continued: "I am a Congressman and, comrades, I will see that you are protected if my influence and power can effect it, even if we have to resort to martial law." The indignation of the citizens at this speech culminated in a large meeting at the Court House, composed of Republicans and Democrats. Resolutions, reported by a committee composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, were unanimously adopted, denouncing Kelly's speech as containing false charges and insinuations, and being in bad taste on such a sacred occasion, and claiming that the laws of Arkansas are as rigidly enforced as those of any state of the Union. Kelly's son resides here, and is part owner of the Republican paper of this City.

Inaugurating a Sunday Campaign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—The Sunday School Association is about to open anew the campaign against violations of the Sunday law of 1794, and is preparing to prosecute actively all offenders who shall be shown to be breaking the Sabbath by keeping their shops open and doing business upon that day. The particular basis of the present movement is the action of a small storekeeper near the Thirteenth-Street M. E. Church, who is accused of selling candy to the Sunday School scholars before and after the sessions of the Sabbath school. The effect of the candy was such that the Sunday school teachers rose up in arms against the storekeeper and summarily placed the matter in the hands of the Sabbath Association. All is in readiness for a grand swoop upon cigar and candy stores, ice-cream saloons, barber shops and all manner of establishments where business is transacted on Sunday. The Thirteenth-street storekeeper's case is in the hands of the Association's Legislative Committee.

FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD PRESENTED IN FEW WORDS.

Prolonged Shocks of Earthquake — An English Syndicate Buys Many Acres of Land in Florida and Alabama—No Yellow Fever in Florida Since January.

The latest and decidedly the most original use to which the automatic slot machine has been put is in connection with the illuminating gas supply of big cities. A gas company in Liverpool, England, has set the fashion by introducing the automatic meter into the houses of its consumers. By dropping a penny in the slot each one can obtain about twenty-five cubic feet of gas. When the first installment runs out another penny insures light for a longer period.

An English syndicate yesterday completed at Louisville, Ky., the purchase of 320,000 acres of yellow pine land, four saw mills, three planing mills, and 36 miles of railroad and equipment. The property is situated in Escambia County, Fla., and Baldwin County, Ala., adjoining. The price paid was $1,500,000. The sellers were the Muscovia Lumber Company, the Michigan Lumber Company, and the G. W. Robinson Company.

A prolonged shock of earthquake was felt in the Channel Islands yesterday. The disturbances were also experienced in many towns on the mainland of England and France. Among the places included are Portsmouth, Havant, Cherbourg, Havre, Rouen, Granville and Caen. No damage was done anywhere. The shock was also felt on the left bank of the Seine, France, to-day.

Yes, you have felt all these things, and doubtless know that tens of thousands of once rosy cheeked, plump, healthy girls and women go into their graves every year solely because these weaknesses were allowed to sap up the well springs of life till nature could no longer stand the strain. FIERCE GALE ON THE LAKES

VESSELS REPORTED WIND-BOUND AND DRIVEN ON SHORE.

At Port Huron the Gale Reached a Velocity of Forty-Eight Miles an Hour—The Storm, it is Stated, is Rapidly Moving Eastward—The Storm Elsewhere.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Yesterday and last night a fierce gale raged over Lakes Ontario and Erie and portions of Lakes Huron and Michigan. All around the lakes vessels are reported wind-bound and driven ashore. At Chicago the wind reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour and a number of vessels were forced to anchor outside. At Port Huron the white caps were driven before a gale of 48 miles, and across the river at Sarnia a fleet of big boats was tied up afraid to move. The storm is moving eastward and Lake Michigan will probably be free from unusual wind to-day. At 7 o'clock last night a north wind was blowing at the following ports with the velocities indicated: Chicago, 40 miles an hour; Milwaukee, 42 miles; Port Huron, 48 miles; Green Bay, 38 miles; Detroit, 35 miles; Toledo, 35 miles; Sandusky, 36 miles. Two women who were in a little frame kitchen were hurled 20 feet and seriously injured. A barn in which George Vogel and J. Powell had taken refuge was blown down and the men were killed. The damage to crops is great.

A TORNADO IN WEST VIRGINIA.

It is Reported That a "Vast Amount of Property" was Destroyed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 31.—A tornado struck a section of country five miles east of here yesterday afternoon and after demolishing a vast amount of property passed down the Potomac River, up-rooting trees, overturning small vessels and playing havoc generally with small buildings near the banks of the stream. The storm traveled over an area of 10 miles and then disappeared to the eastward. Very few trees were left standing along the water front. Those that escaped were twisted out of shape. The house of Martin Borien, which stood directly in the tornado's path, was lifted from the foundations.

THE STORM ELSEWHERE.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 31.—A terrific storm passed over the Potomac River District of Washington County yesterday afternoon. CHICAGO, May 31.—A cold, drizzling rain began falling here yesterday morning and continues. It is so cold that furnace fires have been relighted.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 31.—A heavy rain began falling here at noon yesterday and continued until last night, which caused a flood in the tributaries of the Kanawha River. The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad bridge over Cabin Creek was carried away, and booms in Elk and Coal Rivers have been swept away, and millions of dollars' worth of timber and lumber and railroad ties lost. It is feared a portion of the City will be submerged. The rivers are still rising. The thermometer registers 48 degrees.

STAUNTON, Va., May 31.—Much wheat has been damaged by heavy rain in this vicinity.

After he had finished Hon. Mr. Kelly, of Kansas was introduced. Among other things he said: "The State of Arkansas is in disrepute. Comrades Benjamin and Clayton were assassinated in this State because they were loyal to the flag of their country. The eyes of the entire country are upon Arkansas." Further on he said his State Legislature had passed resolutions denouncing Arkansas and calling upon the National Government to protect its people, even if it had to put it under martial law. The speaker continued: "I am a Congressman and, comrades, I will see that you are protected if my influence and power can effect it, even if we have to resort to martial law." The indignation of the citizens at this speech culminated in a large meeting at the Court House, composed of Republicans and Democrats. Resolutions, reported by a committee composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, were unanimously adopted, denouncing Kelly's speech as containing false charges and insinuations, and being in bad taste on such a sacred occasion, and claiming that the laws of Arkansas are as rigidly enforced as those of any state of the Union. Kelly's son resides here, and is part owner of the Republican paper of this City.

Inaugurating a Sunday Campaign.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—The Sunday School Association is about to open anew the campaign against violations of the Sunday law of 1794, and is preparing to prosecute actively all offenders who shall be shown to be breaking the Sabbath by keeping their shops open and doing business upon that day. The particular basis of the present movement is the action of a small storekeeper near the Thirteenth-Street M. E. Church, who is accused of selling candy to the Sunday School scholars before and after the sessions of the Sabbath school. The effect of the candy was such that the Sunday school teachers rose up in arms against the storekeeper and summarily placed the matter in the hands of the Sabbath Association. All is in readiness for a grand swoop upon cigar and candy stores, ice-cream saloons, barber shops and all manner of establishments where business is transacted on Sunday. The Thirteenth-street storekeeper's case is in the hands of the Association's Legislative Committee.

FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD PRESENTED IN FEW WORDS.

Prolonged Shocks of Earthquake—An English Syndicate Buys Many Acres of Land in Florida and Alabama—No Yellow Fever in Florida Since January.

The latest and decidedly the most original use to which the automatic slot machine has been put is in connection with the illuminating gas supply of big cities. A gas company in Liverpool, England, has set the fashion by introducing the automatic meter into the houses of its consumers. By dropping a penny in the slot each one can obtain about twenty-five cubic feet of gas. When the first installment runs out another penny insures light for a longer period.

An English syndicate yesterday completed at Louisville, Ky., the purchase of 320,000 acres of yellow pine land, four saw mills, three planing mills, and 36 miles of railroad and equipment. The property is situated in Escambia County, Fla., and Baldwin County, Ala., adjoining. The price paid was $1,500,000. The sellers were the Muscovia Lumber Company, the Michigan Lumber Company, and the G. W. Robinson Company.

A prolonged shock of earthquake was felt in the Channel Islands yesterday. The disturbances were also experienced in many towns on the mainland of England and France. Among the places included are Portsmouth, Havant, Cherbourg, Havre, Rouen, Granville and Caen. No damage was done anywhere. The shock was also felt on the left bank of the Seine, France, to-day.

The Connecticut Senate has passed a bill, which the House had previously passed, forbidding railroads to issue free passes to members of the Legislature, and ordering the Comptroller of Connecticut State to furnish railroad tickets to every member of the Legislature who may make to him an assignment of his mileage.

Heavy storms of hail and rain at Huejutla, Mexico, have caused the river to inundate that town, drowning many persons and cattle, washing away many houses and destroying crops.

IN HONOR OF DEAD HEROES.

FEATURES OF THE MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE HEREABOUT.

The Poems Read by Henry and D. B. Abbey and the Substance of What the Speakers Said at the Headquarters of General Grant Post, G. A. R., Last Evening.

Grant Post, G. A. R., fittingly observed the latter part of Memorial Day. At 5:30 o'clock supper was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Post-headquarters. At 7:30 o'clock the veterans and invited guests assembled in the main hall. The room was decorated with many reminders of grim-visaged war and reminders of peace. Commander Bunten called the assemblage to order, and announced that the exercises would begin with the singing of "America." The roll call by the Adjutant of the officers of the Post followed. Nearly all answered to their names. Letters of regret at not being able to accept invitations to be present were read from Postmaster-General Wanamaker and Congressman Charles J. Knapp, of Deposit, Delaware County.

Commander Bunten made a short speech of welcome.

Henry Abbey read a poem, his own effort, on the observance of Memorial Day, as follows:

With fragrant flowers we decorate their graves,
Who met in battle or in prison pen,
A fruitful death; who broke the chains of slaves,
And crushed the might of proud and cruel men.

They broke the chains with tears of bondage wet,
And gave their brave young lives for you and me;
For, where the slave endures, it is a threat
Against the precious freedom of the free.

The sun of liberty dispels the dew,
The tears, the night, and shines on near and far;
But, where it only lights the selfish few,
It scars and blights, and sinks in clouds of war.

'Tis fragrant gratitude we scatter o'er
The graves of them that died for you and me;
Their names, their dust, their memories once more,
O Liberty, we consecrate to thee!

Dr. J. N. Wright, an army veteran of Delaware County, followed. He said in part:

Commander, Comrades of the Army of the Republic, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I must say right at the commencement of my remarks that I am surprised. I cheerfully accepted the invitation to enjoy the hospitalities of General Grant Post on Memorial Day and I only expected to talk to old comrades and rake up old associations, but I find before me an audience composed of not only old soldiers but of ladies and children, and embracing a large representation of the intelligence and culture of Kingston City. I am certainly in a dilemma, but will try to extricate myself as best I can and also to interest you. In unfolding a leaf of my personal history, in relation to the prison pens of the South during the Rebellion, you must not believe me egotistical when I use the pronoun I. It is only necessary in telling the story, for my experience in prison life is that of hundreds and thousands of the boys who wore the blue, and I am only their mouthpiece on this occasion. I am very thankful that I came here to-day and I have greatly enjoyed your hospitality. There seems to be a bond of union between the people of Delaware and Ulster. It is steel bond—the Ulster & Delaware Railroad—and it is fast uniting our business and social interests. To get to my subject, which has been announced as prison experience in the South, I would say that to many people it seems strange how some soldiers get captured and others do not, but to those who have experienced capture, it seems very simple and easily explained. I was taken prisoner on August 25, 1864. It was about the hottest day of that summer, or at least it appeared so to me. I was in the Second Corps, General Hancock's, and our brigade was at Ring Station, Virginia, engaged in tearing up the rails of the Weldon Railroad and we thought we were doing a 'fine thing' and were 'all right,' but it seemed afterward we were not. Soon we were ordered to form in line of battle. In front of us was a piece of woods and soon out of that woods came our cavalry pickets and they came in a hurry too. Our flags were unfurled, and though we could see no enemy, we had no doubt that we soon would. Soon a long line of gray walked deliberately out of the woods and toward our lines. Our artillery began vomiting shot upon the advancing Confederates, our rifles cracked and theirs did in return. Soon the advance was checked, and the rebels retreated to the woods from which they came, and we innocently believed we had a 'fat thing.' We wondered what would happen next, but we did not wonder long. Soon from a cornfield on our right came one of the most perfect lines of battle I ever saw. And the worst of it was that the Confederates were in our rear, and between us and our ammunition. This compelled a change of front and some lively work. Right here I must relate a little episode, which will show how I came close to death. At the head of the advancing rebel column was a splendid-looking officer, who rode 10 paces in front of his men. He was urging them on, and was seen to grasp the colors of his regiment and wave his sword in the air. His movements attracted the attention of myself and a comrade and I said: 'Can't we fetch him?' My comrade was willing to try and we both took deliberate aim and fired. The officer was seen to fall and then the line shivered for a time but on came the Confederates and soon A. P. Hill's men were clambering into our breastworks. The next thing I knew was seeing a rifle pointing directly into my face. As I looked along the barrel and into the little black hole in the end, I believed my time had come. Just then a rebel officer's sword knocked the gun barrel up in the air and the load was discharged over my head. I heard an officer say: 'What are you doing, trying to murder a prisoner? If I see any more of that I'll cut out the heart of the man who does it.' A discussion then began between my would-be slayer and the officer, but I did not remain to see how it came out, I got with the main body of prisoners as fast as I could and celerity hardly expresses the hurry I was in. I believe, however, that the soldier who was so anxious to kill me wanted revenge for the shooting of the Rebel officer. That night we were sent to Petersburgh. We were without food. The next day we were sent by railroad to Richmond and while sidetracked on the way our train was shelled by the Union Army. When we arrived at Richmond we had been two days and three nights without food. The men of A. P. Hill's Corps had given us water and some of them said to us: 'We know you are brave and we'll do all we can for you, but God help you when the home guard at Richmond gets hold of you.' We well remembered this afterward. When we reached Richmond we received our first ration. It consisted of one-half of a hard tack and a piece of bacon about as large as two of my fingers. On the piece of bacon were three or four uninvited guests. I knocked two off but was too hungry to knock off the others and knew they would furnish as good food as the bacon and so gulped them down. When we reached the doors of Libby we encountered 'Old Windar' whose memory lives in the hearts of all Union soldiers who had the misfortune to meet him. We were formed in line and searched. On my person was a photograph of my mother and that of another person as dear to me. It was thrown on the floor and stamped under Windar's feet and all the pictures carried in the pockets of the other prisoners met the same fate. After remaining in Libby Prison for a month we were taken to Belle Island in the James River where we found 5,000 other unfortunates. The island is simply a pile of sand and a most inhospitable place. The first two days and nights we were there the 'line storm' was prevailing and we could not lie down or stand up with any comfort." In his further remarks the speaker told of the discomforts of Belle Island; of his illness, which resulted in his being returned to Richmond, etc. His description of how, through the help of a kind-hearted doctor, he was allowed to personate a wounded soldier and be one of 400 exchanged, was thrilling, especially that part relating to once more getting where the Union flag was waving.

The Rev. A. K. Fuller, on being called upon by Commander Bunten to make an address, said in part: "This is the kind of war I like; there is no bloodshed and no bursting shells, save those rhetorical ones that Dr. Wright has just fired, and God grant that none of us may be called upon to pass through such experiences as he has related. There are no gains without struggles. Even our redemption was accomplished on the bloody cross. The water lily comes from the mud and mire at the bottom of the River but we only notice the bloom on the top of the water. It is right to rehearse a love of country as we are doing this evening. We must teach our children not only to love liberty but also that character is the great essential and that a nation founded on truth cannot go to pieces." Mr. Fuller closed his address with the story of the drummer boy of Marengo who had never been taught to beat a retreat.

The following original poem was then read by D. Brainerd Abbey:

How sacred the charm of thy presence,
Sweet morn of Memorial Day!
How fragrant the breath of the flowers!
How fair the sweet blossoms of May!
The sunshine and breezes are smiling,
All nature is radiant and gay,
And yet this bright vision of beauty
Is tinged with the sombre and gray.

What memories are awakened! what visions!
What dreams of the days that are o'er!
We see the brave boys that are fallen
And look in their faces once more.
And think of the homes that were blighted,
Of hearts that are weary and sore,
That wait for the forms that are vanished,
For steps that will echo no more.

To-day in our grateful remembrance
We stand by these billowy mounds,
To honor the dead of the Nation
That rest in these consecrate grounds.
Tread softly, brave comrades and children,
Bear gently your tributes of love,
Remember what service they rendered,
And thank the Great Father above.

Strew flowers o'er the graves of the heroes,
The fairest, the brightest, the best,
No tribute more fitting or sacred
To hallow the spot where they rest.
When danger imperiled the Nation
And war clouds hung dark in the sky,
They rose at the call of their country,
Prepared to defend it or die.

When treason struck down the old banner
And lifted its death-dealing hand,
There leaped from the ramparts of Sumter
A flame that swept wild through the land.
When drum-beat and bugle-note sounded
O'er mountain and valley the call,
They marched in the pride of their manhood,
And gave to their country their all.

They shared the stern fortunes of battle
With foes that were brave in their zeal;
Nor blanched mid the thunder of cannon
Or gleam of the glittering steel.
Through scenes of endurance and peril,
In all the dark hours of the strife,
They served with heroic devotion
The cause that was dearer than life.

O'er paths that were swept by the tempest
They bore the Old Flag in its pride,
And bravely defended its honor
Or perished in death at its side.
They sleep neath the stars in their glory
On fields won by valor untold,
Unmarked, it may be, yet remembered
By deeds that shall never grow old.

The war for the Union is ended,
The tramping of armies is o'er,
And Peace folds her pinions of plenty
And blesses this fair western shore.
Columbia, the glory of nations,
Redeemed from the chains of the slave,
The home of proud millions of freemen,
The land of the loyal and brave.

The Flag that our fathers bequeathed us
Floats proudly on land and on sea,
The joy and the pride of a people,
United and loyal and free.
Guard well the rich birthright of freedom,
Preserved with such treasure and blood,
And cherish the dauntless devotion
That met and rolled back the wild flood.

The stars of that ensign of Freedom
That shone through the mists of the fight,
Still gleam with a lustre of glory
Undimmed as the stars of the night.
God bless this beloved Republic,
Long may it in concord abide.
O, keep from dissension and peril
This land of our hope and our pride.

Then fling to the breezes our banners
That waved through the perilous fight;
To-day let the anthems of Freedom
Resound for the triumph of right.
From ocean to ocean unsevered,
From Maine to the Gulf and the Sea,
One-kindred, one people, one Nation,
Forever this country shall be.

To-day we lay garlands and roses
On mounds where the violets grow,
To honor the dust of the heroes
That sleep in the silence below.
Forget not the Nation's defenders,
Who fought in the perilous hours,
Nor fail through the years to remember
Their graves with sweet tributes of flowers.

The Rev. Thomas Lamont in his address said that it seemed as though the observation of Memorial Day was in the line of God's providence. Like the observation of the Fourth of July and the recent celebration of the inaugural of Washington, it keeps alive the recollection of important historical stages in the development of the Nation. Each one of these anniversaries celebrates the settlement of important questions that will come up in the life of any nation. The question, the settlement of which is commemorated by Memorial Day, will never come up again."

Hon. James G. Lindsley said substantially: "Our gathering here and what we see in this room is a grand object lesson. We see here emblems, mementoes and mottoes which are historical and especially that starry banner which is the emblem of our Union. Sixty years ago, when we celebrated the Fourth of July in the town where I lived, one of the great attractions in the parade was the veterans of the Revolution. The veterans were humble persons who dwelt in cottages during all the rest of the year and trudged along on foot and no one appeared to worry over the fact, but on the Fourth of July the people insisted they must ride in carriages. I agree with Dr. Wright that the marching days of the veterans of the War of the Rebellion are nearly over, and it is best that they meet together in this manner and rehearse patriotic sentiments. It can no longer be said that the Union is nothing, for it is something. The question of state rights as against the Union is dead, and the Union has been welded together by bands of steel. We are a Nation of peace. We do not look for war, and intend no aggressive acts. However, the nations of the Old World learned in the struggle for the preservation of the Union that the people on both sides were brave. They know what to expect if the 60,000,000 of people, who compose this great Nation, are to be met in war. True, we have not many ships and other necessaries for immediate war, but we have stout hearts and arms to build them, and should war come unexpectedly, the men of the North and South will demonstrate that our flag is invulnerable. Let this object lesson teach you a lesson of patriotism and love of country."

Mayor John Newkirk said that it was a pleasure to him to meet with the members of Grant Post. After alluding to the fact that the day had been fittingly observed, Mr. Newkirk said: "Some years ago a great political out-door mass meeting was held on the commons, then between the villages of Rondout and Kingston. Long before the time for the exercises to begin a great crowd of people gathered. The principal speaker was General Daniel E. Sickles, who lost a leg at Gettysburg. Among the first words said by the General was: 'I may be a stranger to some of you, but not to all. There are men of Ulster County in this audience who bore me from the battle-field of Gettysburg.' There are men before me to-night that have a vivid recollection of the event mentioned and it is only one of many showing the active part the men of Kingston and Ulster County took in the war. I hope that you may long be spared to meet together and honor the memory of those who died and suffered that the Nation might live. I hope also that I may be spared to again meet with the members of Grant Post on future Memorial Days."

The Rev. Francis Washburn was invited to make an address but declined on account of the lateness of the hour. Commander Bunten, seeing the Rev. J. R. B. Smith in the back portion of the room, mentioned the fact and invited the G. A. R. Department Chaplain to make an address. Mr. Smith in response said: "Commander and Comrades of Grant Post, I realize that it is late and that I am only a pilgrim. During the day I have been at Matteawan on the invitation of comrades there and took part in the observance of Memorial Day. I could not go back to my home without looking upon Old Ulster. I came in the back door here and hoped I would get out that way or at least not be called upon for a speech, but the lynx-eye of your Commander has discovered me. I have enjoyed Memorial Day and I realize, as your ex-Congressman has said, that it is a great object lesson. To-day I rode in a carriage with one whom we would have called a 'Johnny' 25 years ago. I thank God he has been converted. He told me that before the war he used to drive with a whip, if necessary, the men of my race. Then he was ignorant and unlearned but since the war he has acquired an education. We need have no fear for freedom. The mothers of the country are instilling in the breasts of their children a love of freedom. In the South in slavery days from 400 to 500 colored slaves were born. Now colored freemen are being born there at the rate of 1,000 per year. Comrades, you will remember that while in the South you had no fear of personal safety when you saw a dark face. I have just visited old scenes in the South. I have talked with the people on every occasion and" [pointing to the American flag] "I can assure you that 'Old Glory' is all right." During the evening recitations were given by Julius Appel, Miss Lucie Pattison and Miss Katherine Huhne. The Misses T. J. and M. Mayer sang. Professor Schaublin presided at the organ.

MEMORIAL DAY NOTES.

The day was generally observed in Rosendale. Business was suspended. A meeting held in St. Peter's Catholic Church was attended by the members of Division No. 1, A. O. H. and St. Peter's T. A. B. Society in regalia. High Mass was celebrated and an address made by the Rev. John J. Gleason. The members of the Protestant Sunday Schools and a number of G. A. R. men, and the members of Hiawatha Lodge of Odd Fellows assembled in the district school house and marched to St. Peter's Church, headed by St. Peter's band. At the church the procession was joined by the societies there, and the march to the Rosendale Plains cemeteries was in the following order: Marshal and Aides, cross borne by Michael Connelly, St. Peter's Band, American flag and Color Sergeant, members of G. A. R. and S. of V., St. Peter's T. A. B. Society, Division No. 1, A. O. H., Sunday School St. Peter's Church, Priest and Acolytes, children of Protestant Sunday Schools. On reaching the Catholic Cemetery the procession halted. The Catholic societies entered accompanied by the veterans and decorated the graves. The service known as the "Office for the Dead" was read, the choir singing the responses and the band playing appropriate airs. The procession then proceeded to the Rosendale Plains Cemetery, where the members of the order of Odd Fellows performed a memorial service at the grave of a deceased brother. Addresses were made by the Rev. M. N. Oliver, A. H. Hill and the Rev. C. G. Callen. Superintendent VanTassel spoke. Graves were decorated.

The City Hall here was a pleasant place to visit yesterday. In the afternoon about 60 members of Pratt Post, headed by Commander B. G. Walker, marched to the building and stacked their arms and equipments in a loft of the hall, after which a collation was served to them by the members of the Post Relief Corps No. 113. The ladies wore bronze badges and they saw that each veteran was well provided for at the table. Old friendships were renewed, and stirring incidents of the war were recounted by the men who had taken part in it. The Rev. Eugene Hill, Pastor of the Reformed Church at Three Bridges, N. J., and who is a member of Lambert Post No. 48, of Port Flemington, N. J., was present. He was warmly greeted by his old comrades. The tables were profusely decorated with flowers. The ladies of the Relief Corps deserve praise for the patriotic manner in which they helped to observe the day. Speeches were made.

Yesterday a detail from General Grant Post, in charge of Junior Vice-Commander Patrick Daley, visited St. Mary's Cemetery and decorated the graves of 40 comrades with flowers. A detail from the same Post, in charge of ex-Senior Vice-Commander Derrenbacher, went to St. Peter's Cemetery and strewed the mounds of five comrades with floral offerings.

A monument that attracted much attention in Montrepose Cemetery was that of the late Chief Engineer George Weber. Firemen had decorated the monument with flowers and vines.

At Bloomingdale William Riesenberger, of Pratt, and Samuel Freer, of General Grant Posts, escorted the children of the Sunday Schools who decorated the graves of veterans.

The scholars in School District No. 3 contributed many beautiful flowers for the graves of the dead in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Excise Law Being Enforced in Newburgh—A Large Black Snake Killed.

A sixteen-mile bicycle road race took place in Dutchess County yesterday. There were 10 contestants—six from Wappingers Falls and four from Poughkeepsie. Enthusiasm prevailed at the finish. Hundreds of people cheered the bicyclers. The race was won by John VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie. Time 1 hour 2 minutes and 11 seconds. Elias VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie, second. Time, 1 hour 2 minutes and 14 seconds. Edward Cashin, of Wappingers Falls, third. Time 1 hour, 3 minutes and 14 seconds. The course was from the foot of Market-street, Poughkeepsie, to Wappingers Falls and return.

In the cross-country run of the Newburgh Athletic Club yesterday Grant Marvin, George W. Sparling, Patrick Dolan, Joseph Low, L. J. Coyle, John English, W. H. Waxeman and Thomas Dillon competed. The distance was about seven miles. The race was a handicap and Low won in 50 minutes and 35 seconds, English second and Sparling third. Dolan, when near Newburgh, with a fair prospect of winning, fainted and fell against a wall, seriously injuring himself.

George L. Palmer, of Coeymans Hollow, killed a blacksnake one day recently. The reptile measured nearly six feet in length.

M. S. Washburn, of Lagrange, Dutchess County, shot a wild goose one day last week. It was in his lot "pulling corn."

Jacob Lewis, of Newburgh, has paid a fine of $50 for selling liquor illegally in that City on Wednesday.

THE LOCAL SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

A Schooner Aground in Rondout Creek—Arrivals at Tidewater—Coal Tonnage.

On Thursday afternoon a three-masted schooner, loaded, ran aground in the Rondout Creek, near the mouth of the Brook at South-Rondout. Four tugs tried in vain to pull it off. The strain on the McDonald's bawser was so great that it parted once.

There were reported at the Rondout Department of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company to-day vessels that in the aggregate will carry away 5,700 tons of coal.

The new propeiler Hewitt Boice, Captain William Barnett, will be launched from McMullen's marine railway here on Monday.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 39 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 5,200 tons of coal.

The whistle of the steamer City of Kingston was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek last night at 9:40 o'clock.

The case of Patrick McDounell was adjourned.

What a Correspondent Says.

A correspondent writes that "some active women who pride themselves on their housekeeping seem to forget that the object of keeping house is that human beings may be accommodated in it. Their sole idea seems to be this, that the object of keeping a house is that the house may be kept in a certain form and order; and in studying the form and order they sacrifice the comfort the house was established to secure. Such active women are a source of trouble because they want sense to direct and control their energies."

The Case of John F. Hooper.

The trial of John F. Hooper, of the North New-York Congregational Church, on charges of contumacy and falsehood, was continued to-day by the North New-York Classis of the Reformed Church, New-York City. The proceedings were conducted with closed doors. The accused was present with his 19-year-old wife, with whom he recently eloped.

Catching Shad With Hook and Line in Waters in this Vicinity—Horse Race on Kingston Driving Park—Base Ball on the Union-Avenue Grounds, Etc.

The races at Kingston Driving Park on Thursday afternoon were interesting. The Judges were David Hallihan and James Cummings, of this City, and Daniel Winter, of Pine Hill. The first race was a trot for three-minute horses. The entries were H. Van-Rensselaer's black gelding "Rowdy Boy," William P. Coles' bay gelding "Billy C." and Rienzi Lasher's bay gelding "Baltimore." "Billy C." was driven by Simon Burr, the other horses by their owners. Four heats were trotted. "Rowdy Boy" won the first, second and third heats. In the third heat "Billy C." trotted fast and took the pole from "Rowdy Boy." On the back stretch "Rowdy Boy" broke, and, while running, passed the other. The judges gave the heat to "Billy C." The race was finally won by "Rowdy Boy," "Billy C." being second. The second event was for 2:40 horses. The entries were Marcus Lane's chestnut gelding "Eddie D., Abram Lasher's brown gelding "M. A. L." and W. Crum's gray gelding "Roy." The chestnut was driven by John J. Morin. Lasher drove his own horse. Burr drove "Roy." The first heat was a close one between the black and sorrel. The black led until coming up the home stretch. The second time around the black broke, and the sorrel won by a length. During the second heat "Roy" closed on the sorrel and made a lively race. The third heat and race was won by the sorrel. The entries for the running race were Cornelius Davis's bay gelding "Unknown," and John J. Morin's chestnut gelding "Spider." The first heat a colored lad rode "Unknown." A young man named Samuel Harrison rode "Spider." When the horses passed the Judge's stand the Judges rang the bell to call them back. The riders paid no attention to the bell but went around the track at full speed. When they came up the home stretch a number of men moved across the track and stopped the horses. While scoring for another start Harrison accidentally fell from his horse. He was assisted to remount. The Judges gave the word. The colored driver ran a short distance and stopped his horse. Harrison rode on, but when he saw his antagonist was not coming slowed up. There were cries to the rider of "Unknown" to "go cross lots." He did so by running his horse up the road leading to the barn. Harrison seeing his danger started his horse and after a close run took the lead down the back stretch. When the horses came up the home stretch they were stopped by their owners. "Spider" was finally galloped around the track and the heat given to that horse. In the second heat "Unknown" was ridden by another driver. It was decided to run a half mile. "Unknown" took the pole at the first turn and won. During the third heat as the horses were running swiftly around the first turn near the grand stand, Harrison lost his balance, fell from his horse and struck the rail of the inner fence. The race was won by "Unknown."

John G. VanEtten, of this City, proved yesterday that shad can be caught with hook and line, wriggling worms being used for bait. In company with Frank Dewey he fished in the Rondout Creek just below the dam at Eddyville. The two men had angled for some time with indifferent success, when Captain VanEtten's pole was nearly jerked out of his hands. He believed that he had hooked a large bass and began to "play it." The pole, which weighs seven and one-half ounces, bent like a reed. After playing the fish for about 10 minutes he pulled it from the water, and to his and Dewey's surprise it was a shad, which when weighed pulled the scales down to four and a half pounds. The men essayed to try their luck again, and in a few minutes Captain VanEtten felt another strong bite, and after going through the same manœuvres as before, he landed another shad, which weighed a quarter of an ounce less than the first one.

The game of ball played on the Union-avenue grounds here yesterday afternoon between the Kingstons and the Labor Club resulted in an another crushing defeat for the visitors. Such an exhibition of poor batting, juggling of ball and miserable base running was never before witnessed on the grounds. One of the fielders ran as though the bones in his back were of lead. The Kingstons played fairly well. Allen covered much of the infield and caught several "flies" in the outfield. T. O'Reilly batted the ball as though he had a spite against it, making two and three-baggers as regular as clock-work. The following is the score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
KINGSTONS	4	0	0	0	4	1	4	1	6	—20
CREEK LOCKS	0	0	0	5	0	0	1	1	2	—9

A young man on the Union-avenue ball grounds yesterday afternoon made use of such extravagant language that he caused the umpire to call a ball a strike. Here are sample expressions: "I'll consign you to the obsequies of oblivion." Seeing a colored man he said: "He is a representative of the Nineteenth Amendment." "You mean the Fifteenth Amendment," ventured a by-stander. "Not to appear parsimonious, I would ejaculate that since the advent of President Harrison that the Amendment has been prelongated," was the reply.

Last night about 30 members of the Hauck Gymnasium Club went to Newburgh and joined the members of the Newburgh Athletic Club in dedicating their new hall. There were athletic exercises, in which the visitors participated. Henry Powers, of the Hauck Gymnasium Club, made a speech.

The Ulster County Supervisors' Committee on the addition to the County Clerk's and Surrogate's Building, consisting of Davis, Spore and Van Tassell met to-day, in Kingston. In company with Architect Mason, they examined and accepted the work as far as finished, and paid the contractors $1,000.

Last night a man was seen in a hammock suspended between two posts so close together that he was doubled up like a jack-knife. And yet such is the faculty of the American people to accommodate themselves to circumstances that he slumbered away as though he enjoyed it.

Henry Prull while riding on his bicycle down Hasbrouck-avenue yesterday, "took a header" that threw him directly in front of a horse. Luckily the animal sheered and cleared the fallen wheelman.

The advantage of wide tires on wagons was noticed by bicyclers of this City while running to Poughkeepsie yesterday on their machines. Wide tires used on wagons drawing heavy loads prevent injury to the track.

A laborer named Michael Wall was arrested and taken to the Ulster County Jail this afternoon for raising a disturbance in the lower office of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company here.

In yesterday forenoon's game between the Bostons and Chicagos, Richard Johnston, of Rondout, made a two-base hit, a home run, two runs, put out four men and made no errors.

T. Granger Stewart, M. D., F. R. S. E., Ordinary Physician to H. M., the Queen, in Scotland, Professor of Practice of Physic in the University of Edinburgh, in writing of Bright's disease, says: "The blood itself is altered in its chemical composition. Its density is diminished, the corpuscles and albumen being deficient, while the water is correspondingly increased. The quantity of urea is above the normal. This is a plain recognition of the necessity of directing active treatment with Warner's Safe Cure when the blood is overcharged with urea or uric acid poison.

Hon. D. F. Davis,
Ex-Governor of the State of Maine, ex-Collector of the port of Bangor, was asked to investigate the case of Reuben Severance, of Stillwater, Me. He did so, finding the following to be the facts: Fourteen years ago a tumor appeared in the groin of Severance, increasing in size until it hung nearly to the knee, weighing about seven pounds. He carried this ten years, as no physician dared cut it out, fearing a shock to the nervous system would kill the patient.
There was no digestion; ringing sounds were in the ears; dizziness, palpitation, inflammation, with pains. Patient bed-ridden and praying for relief. Began to use Brown's Sarsaparilla, and fourteen bottles scattered and entirely eradicted this tumor, and Mr. Severance is now about his business. We will find abundant proof of this and other wonderful cures on application, we will offer the grandest blood purifier ever known. Chief Justice Peters says Dr. Brown was twenty years in perfecting this grand preparation. There is nothing in the world like

IN HONOR OF DEAD HEROES.

FEATURES OF THE MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE HEREABOUT.

The Poems Read by Henry and D. B. Abbey and the Substance of What the Speakers Said at the Headquarters of General Grant Post, G. A. R., Last Evening.

Grant Post, G. A. R., fittingly observed the latter part of Memorial Day. At 5:30 o'clock supper was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Post headquarters. At 7:30 o'clock the veterans and invited guests assembled in the main hall. The room was decorated with many reminders of grim-visaged war and reminders of peace. Commander Bunten called the assemblage to order, and announced that the exercises would begin with the singing of "America." The roll call by the Adjutant of the officers of the Post followed. Nearly all answered to their names. Letters of regret at not being able to accept invitations to be present were read from Postmaster-General Wanamaker and Congressman Charles J. Knapp, of Deposit, Delaware County.

Commander Bunten made a short speech of welcome.

Henry Abbey read a poem, his own effort, on the observance of Memorial Day, as follows:

With fragrant flowers we decorate their graves,
Who met in battle or in prison pen,
A fruitful death; who broke the chains of slaves,
And crushed the might of proud and cruel men.

They broke the chains with tears of bondage wet,
And gave their brave young lives for you and me;
For, where the slave endures, it is a threat
Against the precious freedom of the free.

The sun of liberty dispels the dew,
The tears, the night, and shines on near and far;
But, where it only lights the selfish few,
It scars and blights, and sinks in clouds of war.

'Tis fragrant gratitude we scatter o'er
The graves of them that died for you and me;
Their names, their dust, their memories once more,
O Liberty, we consecrate to thee!

Dr. J. N. Wright, an army veteran of Delaware County, followed. He said in part:

Commander, Comrades of the Army of the Republic, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I must say right at the commencement of my remarks that I am surprised. I cheerfully accepted the invitation to enjoy the hospitalities of General Grant Post on Memorial Day and I only expected to talk to old comrades and rake up old associations, but I find before me an audience composed of not only old soldiers but of ladies and children, and embracing a large representation of the intelligence and culture of Kingston City. I am certainly in a dilemma, but will try to extricate myself as best I can and also to interest you. In unfolding a leaf of my personal history, in relation to the prison pens of the South during the Rebellion, you must not believe me egotistical when I use the pronoun I. It is only necessary in telling the story, for my experience in prison life is that of hundreds and thousands of the boys who wore the blue, and I am only their mouthpiece on this occasion. I am very thankful that I came here to-day and I have greatly enjoyed your hospitality. There seems to be a bond of union between the people of Delaware and Ulster. It is steel bond—the Ulster & Delaware Railroad—and it is fast uniting our business and social interests. To get to my subject, which has been announced as prison experience in the South, I would say that to many people it seems strange how some soldiers get captured and others do not, but to those who have experienced capture, it seems very simple and easily explained. I was taken prisoner on August 25, 1864. It was about the hottest day of that summer, or at least it appeared so to me. I was in the Second Corps, General Hancock's, and our brigade was at Ring Station, Virginia, engaged in tearing up the rails of the Weldon Railroad and we thought we were doing a 'fine thing' and were 'all right,' but it seemed afterward we were not. Soon we were ordered to form in line of battle. In front of us was a piece of woods and soon out of that woods came our cavalry pickets and they came in a hurry too. Our flags were unfurled, and though we could see no enemy, we had no doubt that we soon would. Soon a long line of gray walked deliberately out of the woods and toward our lines. Our artillery began vomiting shot upon the advancing Confederates, our rifles cracked and theirs did in return. Soon the advance was checked, and the rebels retreated to the woods from which they came, and we innocently believed we had a 'fat thing.' We wondered what would happen next, but we did not wonder long. Soon from a cornfield on our right came one of the most perfect lines of battle I ever saw. And the worst of it was that the Confederates were in our rear, and between us and our ammunition. This compelled a change of front and some lively work. Right here I must relate a little episode, which will show how I came close to death. At the head of the advancing rebel column was a splendid-looking officer, who rode 10 paces in front of his men. He was urging them on, and was seen to grasp the colors of his regiment and wave his sword in the air. His movements attracted the attention of myself and a comrade and I said: 'Can't we fetch him?' My comrade was willing to try and we both took deliberate aim and fired. The officer was seen to fall and then the line shivered for a time but on came the Confederates and soon A. P. Hill's men were clambering into our breastworks. The next thing I knew was seeing a rifle pointing directly into my face. As I looked along the barrel and into the little black hole in the end, I believed my time had come. Just then a rebel officer's sword knocked the gun barrel up in the air and the load was discharged over my head. I heard an officer say: 'What are you doing, trying to murder a prisoner? If I see any more of that I'll cut out the heart of the man who does it.' A discussion then began between my would-be slayer and the officer, but I did not remain to see how it came out, I got with the main body of prisoners as fast as I could and celerity hardly expresses the hurry I was in. I believe, however, that the soldier who was so anxious to kill me wanted revenge for the shooting of the Rebel officer. That night we were sent to Petersburgh. We were without food. The next day we were sent by railroad to Richmond and while sidetracked on the way our train was shelled by the Union Army. When we arrived at Richmond we had been two days and three nights without food. The men of A. P. Hill's Corps had given us water and some of them said to us: 'We know you are brave and we'll do all we can for you, but God help you when the home guard at Richmond gets hold of you.' We well remembered this afterward. When we reached Richmond we received our first ration. It consisted of one-half of a hard tack and a piece of bacon about as large as two of my fingers. On the piece of bacon were three or four uninvited guests. I knocked two off but was too hungry to knock off the others and knew they would furnish as good food as the bacon and so gulped them down. When we reached the doors of Libby we encountered 'Old Windar' whose memory lives in the hearts of all Union soldiers who had the misfortune to meet him. We were formed in line and searched. On my person was a photograph of my mother and that of another person as dear to me. It was thrown on the floor and stamped under Windar's feet and all the pictures carried in the pockets of the other prisoners met the same fate. After remaining in Libby Prison for a month we were taken to Belle Island in the James River where we found 5,000 other unfortunates. The island is simply a pile of sand and a most inhospitable place. The first two days and nights we were there the 'line storm' was prevailing and we could not lie down or stand up with any comfort." In his further remarks the speaker told of the discomforts of Belle Island; of his illness, which resulted in his being returned to Richmond, etc. His description of how, through the help of a kind-hearted doctor, he was allowed to personate a wounded soldier and be one of 400 exchanged, was thrilling, especially that part relating to once more getting where the Union flag was waving.

The Rev. A. K. Fuller, on being called upon by Commander Bunten to make an address, said in part: "This is the kind of war I like; there is no bloodshed and no bursting shells, save those rhetorical ones that Dr. Wright has just fired, and God grant that none of us may be called upon to pass through such experiences as he has related. There are no gains without struggles. Even our redemption was accomplished on the bloody cross. The water lily comes from the mud and mire at the bottom of the River but we only notice the bloom on the top of the water. It is right to rehearse a love of country as we are doing this evening. We must teach our children not only to love liberty but also that character is the great essential and that a nation founded on truth cannot go to pieces." Mr. Fuller closed his address with the story of the drummer boy of Marengo who had never been taught to beat a retreat.

The following original poem was then read by D. Brainerd Abbey:

How sacred the charm of thy presence,
Sweet morn of Memorial Day!
How fragrant the breath of the flowers!
How fair the sweet blossoms of May!
The sunshine and breezes are smiling,
All nature is radiant and gay,
And yet this bright vision of beauty
Is tinged with the sombre and gray.

What memories are awakened! what visions!
What dreams of the days that are o'er!
We see the brave boys that are fallen
And look in their faces once more.
And think of the homes that were blighted,
Of hearts that are weary and sore,
That wait for the forms that are vanished,
For steps that will echo no more.

To-day in our grateful remembrance
We stand by these billowy mounds,
To honor the dead of the Nation
That rest in these consecrate grounds.
Tread softly, brave comrades and children,
Bear gently your tributes of love,
Remember what service they rendered,
And thank the Great Father above.

Strew flowers o'er the graves of the heroes,
The fairest, the brightest, the best,
No tribute more fitting or sacred
To hallow the spot where they rest.
When danger imperiled the Nation
And war clouds hung dark in the sky,
They rose at the call of their country,
Prepared to defend it or die.

When treason struck down the old banner
And lifted its death-dealing hand,
There leaped from the ramparts of Sumter
A flame that swept wild through the land.
When drum-beat and bugle-note sounded
O'er mountain and valley the call,
They marched in the pride of their manhood,
And gave to their country their all.

They shared the stern fortunes of battle
With foes that were brave in their zeal;
Nor blanched mid the thunder of cannon
Or gleam of the glittering steel.
Through scenes of endurance and peril,
In all the dark hours of the strife,
They served with heroic devotion
The cause that was dearer than life.

O'er paths that were swept by the tempest
They bore the Old Flag in its pride,
And bravely defended its honor
Or perished in death at its side.
They sleep neath the stars in their glory
On fields won by valor untold,
Unmarked, it may be, yet remembered
By deeds that shall never grow old.

The war for the Union is ended,
The tramping of armies is o'er,
And Peace folds her pinions of plenty
And presses this fair western shore.
Columbia, the glory of nations,
Redeemed from the chains of the slave,
The home of proud millions of freemen,
The land of the loyal and brave.

The Flag that our fathers bequeathed us
Floats proudly on land and on sea,
The joy and the pride of a people,
United and loyal and free.
Guard well the rich birthright of freedom,
Preserved with such treasure and blood,
And cherish the dauntless devotion
That met and rolled back the wild flood.

The stars of that ensign of Freedom
That shone through the mists of the fight,
Still gleam with a lustre of glory
Undimmed as the stars of the night.
God bless this beloved Republic,
Long may it in concord abide.
O, keep from dissension and peril
This land of our hope and our pride.

Then fling to the breezes our banners
That waved through the perilous fight;
To-day let the anthems of Freedom
Resound for the triumph of right.
From ocean to ocean unsevered,
From Maine to the Gulf and the Sea,
One kindred, one people, one Nation,
Forever this country shall be.

To-day we lay garlands and roses
On mounds where the violets grow,
To honor the dust of the heroes
That sleep in the silence below.
Forget not the Nation's defenders,
Who fought in the perilous hours,
Nor fail through the years to remember
Their graves with sweet tributes of flowers.

The Rev. Thomas Lamont in his address said that it seemed as though the observation of Memorial Day was in the line of God's providence. Like the observation of the Fourth of July and the recent celebration of the inaugural of Washington, it keeps alive the recollection of important historical stages in the development of the Nation. Each one of these anniversaries celebrates the settlement of important questions that will come up in the life of any nation. The question, the settlement of which is commemorated by Memorial Day, will never come up again."

Hon. James G. Lindsley said substantially: "Our gathering here and what we see in this room is a grand object lesson. We see here emblems, mementoes and mottoes which are historical and especially that starry banner which is the emblem of our Union. Sixty years ago, when we celebrated the Fourth of July in the town where I lived, one of the great attractions in the parade was the veterans of the Revolution. The veterans were humble persons who dwelt in cottages during all the rest of the year and trudged along on foot and no one appeared to worry over the fact, but on the Fourth of July the people insisted they must ride in carriages. I agree with Dr. Wright that the marching days of the veterans of the War of the Rebellion are nearly over, and it is best that they meet together in this manner and rehearse patriotic sentiments. It can no longer be said that the Union is nothing, for it is something. The question of state rights as against the Union is dead, and the Union has been welded together by bands of steel. We are a Nation of peace. We do not look for war, and intend no aggressive acts. However, the nations of the Old World learned in the struggle for the preservation of the Union that the people on both sides were brave. They know what to expect if the 60,000,000 of people, who compose this great Nation, are to be met in war. True, we have not many ships and other necessaries for immediate war, but we have stout hearts and arms to build them, and should war come unexpectedly, the men of the North and South will demonstrate that our flag is invulnerable. Let this object lesson teach you a lesson of patriotism and love of country."

Mayor John Newkirk said that it was a pleasure to him to meet with the members of Grant Post. After alluding to the fact that the day had been fittingly observed, Mr. Newkirk said: "Some years ago a great political out-door mass meeting was held on the commons, then between the villages of Rondout and Kingston. Long before the time for the exercises to begin a great crowd of people gathered. The principal speaker was General Daniel E. Sickles, who lost a leg at Gettysburg. Among the first words said by the General was: 'I may be a stranger to some of you, but not to all. There are men of Ulster County in this audience who bore me from the battle-field of Gettysburg.' There are men before me to-night that have a vivid recollection of the event mentioned and it is only one of many showing the active part the men of Kingston and Ulster County took in the war. I hope that you may long be spared to meet together and honor the memory of those who died and suffered that the Nation might live. I hope also that I may be spared to again meet with the members of Grant Post on future Memorial Days."

The Rev. Francis Washburn was invited to make an address but declined on account of the lateness of the hour. Commander Buntin, seeing the Rev. J. R. B. Smith in the back portion of the room, mentioned the fact and invited the G. A. R. Department Chaplain to make an address. Mr. Smith in response said: "Commander and Comrades of Grant Post, I realize that it is late and that I am only a pilgrim. During the day I have been at Matteawan on the invitation of comrades there and took part in the observance of Memorial Day. I could not go back to my home without looking upon Old Ulster. I came in the back door here and hoped I would get out that way or at least not be called upon for a speech, but the lynx-eye of your Commander has discovered me. I have enjoyed Memorial Day and I realize, as your ex-Congressman has said, that it is a great object lesson. To-day I rode in a carriage with one whom we would have called a 'Johnny' 25 years ago. I thank God he has been converted. He told me that before the war he used to drive with a whip, if necessary, the men of my race. Then he was ignorant and unlearned but since the war he has acquired an education. We need have no fear for freedom. The mothers of the country are instilling in the breasts of their children a love of freedom. In the South in slavery days from 400 to 500 colored slaves were born. Now colored freemen are being born there at the rate of 1,000 per year. Comrades, you will remember that while in the South you had no fear of personal safety when you saw a dark face. I have just visited old scenes in the South. I have talked with the people on every occasion and" [pointing to the American flag] "I can assure you that 'Old Glory' is all right." During the evening recitations were given by Julius Appel, Miss Lucie Pattison and Miss Katherine Huhne. The Misses T. J. and M. Mayer sang. Professor Schaublin presided at the organ.

MEMORIAL DAY NOTES.

The day was generally observed in Rosendale. Business was suspended. A meeting held in St. Peter's Catholic Church was attended by the members of Division No. 1, A. O. H. and St. Peter's T. A. B. Society in regalia. High Mass was celebrated and an address made by the Rev. John J. Gleason. The members of the Protestant Sunday Schools and a number of G. A. R. men, and the members of Hiawatha Lodge of Odd Fellows assembled in the district school house and marched to St. Peter's Church, headed by St. Peter's band. At the church the procession was joined by the societies there, and the march to the Rosendale Plains cemeteries was in the following order: Marshal and Aides, cross borne by Michael Connelly, St. Peter's Band, American flag and Color Sergeant, members of G. A. R. and S. of V., St. Peter's T. A. B. Society, Division No. 1, A. O. H., Sunday School St. Peter's Church, Priest and Acolytes, children of Protestant Sunday Schools. On reaching the Catholic Cemetery the procession halted. The Catholic societies entered accompanied by the veterans and decorated the graves. The service known as the "Office for the Dead" was read, the choir singing the responses and the band playing appropriate airs. The procession then proceeded to the Rosendale Plains Cemetery, where the members of the order of Odd Fellows performed a memorial service at the grave of a deceased brother. Addresses were made by the Rev. M. N. Oliver, A. H. Hill and the Rev. C. G. Callen. Superintendent VanTassel spoke. Graves were decorated.

The City Hall here was a pleasant place to visit yesterday. In the afternoon about 60 members of Pratt Post, headed by Commander B. G. Walker, marched to the building and stacked their arms and equipments in a loft of the hall, after which a collation was served to them by the members of the Post Relief Corps No. 113. The ladies wore bronze badges and they saw that each veteran was well provided for at the table. Old friendships were renewed, and stirring incidents of the war were recounted by the men who had taken part in it. The Rev. Eugene Hill, Pastor of the Reformed Church at Three Bridges, N. J., and who is a member of Lambert Post No. 48, of Port Flemington, N. J., was present. He was warmly greeted by his old comrades. The tables were profusely decorated with flowers. The ladies of the Relief Corps deserve praise for the patriotic manner in which they helped to observe the day. Speeches were made.

Yesterday a detail from General Grant Post, in charge of Junior Vice-Commander Patrick Daley, visited St. Mary's Cemetery and decorated the graves of 40 comrades with flowers. A detail from the same Post, in charge of ex-Senior Vice-Commander Derrenbacher, went to St. Peter's Cemetery and strewed the mounds of five comrades with floral offerings.

A monument that attracted much attention in Montrepose Cemetery was that of the late Chief Engineer George Weber. Firemen had decorated the monument with flowers and vines.

At Bloomingdale William Riesenberger, of Pratt, and Samuel Freer, of General Grant Posts, escorted the children of the Sunday Schools who decorated the graves of veterans.

The scholars in School District No. 3 contributed many beautiful flowers for the graves of the dead in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Excise Law Being Enforced in Newburgh—A Large Black Snake Killed.

A sixteen-mile bicycle road race took place in Dutchess County yesterday. There were 10 contestants—six from Wappingers Falls and four from Poughkeepsie. Enthusiasm prevailed at the finish. Hundreds of people cheered the bicyclers. The race was won by John VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie. Time 1 hour 2 minutes and 11 seconds. Elias VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie, second. Time, 1 hour 2 minutes and 14 seconds. Edward Cashin, of Wappingers Falls, third. Time 1 hour, 3 minutes and 14 seconds. The course was from the foot of Market-street, Poughkeepsie, to Wappingers Falls and return.

In the cross-country run of the Newburgh Athletic Club yesterday Grant Marvin, George W. Sparling, Patrick Dolan, Joseph Low, L. J. Coyle, John English, W. H. Waxeman and Thomas Dillon competed. The distance was about seven miles. The race was a handicap and Low won in 50 minutes and 35 seconds, English second and Sparling third. Dolan, when near Newburgh, with a fair prospect of winning, fainted and fell against a wall, seriously injuring himself.

George L. Palmer, of Coeymans Hollow, killed a blacksnake one day recently. The reptile measured nearly six feet in length.

M. S. Washburn, of Lagrange, Dutchess County, shot a wild goose one day last week. It was in his lot "pulling corn."

Jacob Lewis, of Newburgh, has paid a fine of $50 for selling liquor illegally in that City on Wednesday.

THE LOCAL SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

A Schooner Aground in Rondout Creek—Arrivals at Tidewater—Coal Tonnage.

On Thursday afternoon a three-masted schooner, loaded, ran aground in the Rondout Creek, near the mouth of the Brook at South-Rondout. Four tugs tried in vain to pull it off. The strain on the McDonald's bawser was so great that it parted once.

There were reported at the Rondout Department of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company to-day vessels that in the aggregate will carry away 5,700 tons of coal.

The new propeiler Hewitt Boice, Captain William Barnett, will be launched from McMullen's marine railway here on Monday.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 39 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 5,200 tons of coal.

The whistle of the steamer City of Kingston was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek last night at 9:40 o'clock.

Before Recorder Hussey Here To-Day.

One John Bowes was arraigned charged by his wife, Mrs. Ellen Bowes, with abandonment. Sheriff Dill on Wednesday arrested Bowes. The prisoner agreed to give his wife $575, she to relinquish all future claims for support and maintenance for herself and child.

A one-armed colored man, William Koons, was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. It was shown that Koons had a fit. He was discharged.

The case of Patrick McDounell was adjourned.

What a Correspondent Says.

A correspondent writes that "some active women who pride themselves on their housekeeping seem to forget that the object of keeping house is that human beings may be accommodated in it. Their sole idea seems to be this, that the object of keeping a house is that the house may be kept in a certain form and order; and in studying the form and order they sacrifice the comfort the house was established to secure. Such active women are a source of trouble because they want sense to direct and control their energies."

The Case of John F. Hooper.

The trial of John F. Hooper, of the North New-York Congregational Church, on charges of contumacy and falsehood, was continued to-day by the North New-York Classis of the Reformed Church, New-York City. The proceedings were conducted with closed doors. The accused was present with his 19-year-old wife, with whom he recently eloped.

CITY AND SUBURBAN NEWS

AND BITS OF CHAT AND GOSSIP OVERHEARD HERE TO-DAY.

Catching Shad With Hook and Line in Waters in this Vicinity—Horse Race on Kingston Driving Park—Base Ball on the Union-Avenue Grounds, Etc.

The races at Kingston Driving Park on Thursday afternoon were interesting. The Judges were David Hallihan and James Cummings, of this City, and Daniel Winter, of Pine Hill. The first race was a trot for three-minute horses. The entries were H. Van-Rensselaer's black gelding "Rowdy Boy," William P. Coles' bay gelding "Billy C." and Rienzi Lasher's bay gelding "Baltimore." "Billy C." was driven by Simon Burr, the other horses by their owners. Four heats were trotted. "Rowdy Boy" won the first, second and third heats. In the third heat "Billy C." trotted fast and took the pole from "Rowdy Boy." On the back stretch "Rowdy Boy" broke, and, while running, passed the other. The judges gave the heat to "Billy C." The race was finally won by "Rowdy Boy," "Billy C." being second. The second event was for 2:40 horses. The entries were Marcus Lane's chestnut gelding "Eddie D., Abram Lasher's brown gelding "M.A. L." and W. Crum's gray gelding "Roy." The chestnut was driven by John J. Morin. Lasher drove his own horse. Burr drove "Roy." The first heat was a close one between the black and sorrel. The black led until coming up the home stretch. The second time around the black broke, and the sorrel won by a length. During the second heat "Roy" closed on the sorrel and made a lively race. The third heat and race was won by the sorrel. The entries for the running race were Cornelius Davis's bay gelding "Unknown," and John J. Morin's chestnut gelding "Spider." The first heat a colored lad rode "Unknown." A young man named Samuel Harrison rode "Spider." When the horses passed the Judge's stand the Judges rang the bell to call them back. The riders paid no attention to the bell but went around the track at full speed. When they came up the home stretch a number of men moved across the track and stopped the horses. While scoring for another start Harrison accidentally fell from his horse. He was assisted to remount. The Judges gave the word. The colored driver ran a short distance and stopped his horse. Harrison rode on, but when he saw his antagonist was not coming slowed up. There were cries to the rider of "Unknown" to "go cross lots." He did so by running his horse up the road leading to the barn. Harrison seeing his danger started his horse and after a close run took the lead down the back stretch. When the horses came up the home stretch they were stopped by their owners. "Spider" was finally galloped around the track and the beat given to that horse. In the second heat "Unknown" was ridden by another driver. It was decided to run a half mile. "Unknown" took the pole at the first turn and won. During the third heat as the horses were running swiftly around the first turn near the grand stand, Harrison lost his balance, fell from his horse and struck the rail of the inner fence. The race was won by "Unknown."

John G. VanEtten, of this City, proved yesterday that shad can be caught with hook and line, wriggling worms being used for bait. In company with Frank Dewey he fished in the Rondout Creek just below the dam at Eddyville. The two men had angled for some time with indifferent success, when Captain VanEtten's pole was nearly jerked out of his hands. He believed that he had hooked a large bass and began to "play it." The pole, which weighs seven and one-half ounces, bent like a reed. After playing the fish for about 10 minutes he pulled it from the water, and to his and Dewey's surprise it was a shad, which when weighed pulled the scales down to four and a half pounds. The men essayed to try their luck again, and in a few minutes Captain VanEtten felt another strong bite, and after going through the same manœuvres as before, he landed another shad, which weighed a quarter of an ounce less than the first one.

The game of ball played on the Union-avenue grounds here yesterday afternoon between the Kingstons and the Labor Club resulted in an another crushing defeat for the visitors. Such an exhibition of poor batting, juggling of ball and miserable base running was never before witnessed on the grounds. One of the fielders ran as though the bones in his back were of lead. The Kingstons played fairly well. Allen covered much of the infield and caught several "flies" in the outfield. T. O'Reilly batted the ball as though he had a spite against it, making two and three-baggers as regular as clock-work. The following is the score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Kingstons	4	0	0	0	4	1	4	1	6	—20
Creek Locks	0	0	0	5	0	0	1	1	2	—9

A young man on the Union-avenue ball grounds yesterday afternoon made use of such extravagant language that he caused the umpire to call a ball a strike. Here are sample expressions: "I'll consign you to the obsequies of oblivion." Seeing a colored man he said: "He is a representative of the Nineteenth Amendment." "You mean the Fifteenth Amendment," ventured a bystander. "Not to appear parsimonious, I would ejaculate that since the advent of President Harrison that the Amendment has been prelongated," was the reply.

Last night a man was seen in a hammock suspended between two posts so close together that he was doubled up like a jack-knife. And yet such is the faculty of the American people to accommodate themselves to circumstances that he slumbered away as though he enjoyed it.

The advantage of wide tires on wagons was noticed by bicyclers of this City while running to Poughkeepsie yesterday on their machines. Wide tires used on wagons drawing heavy loads prevent injury to the track.

In yesterday forenoon's game between the Bostons and Chicagos, Richard Johnston, of Rondout, made a two-base hit, a home run, two runs, put out four men and made no errors.

Hon. D. F. Davis, Ex-Governor of the State of Maine, ex-Collector of the port of Bangor, was asked to investigate the case of Reuben Severance, of Stillwater, Me. He did so, finding the following to be the facts: Fourteen years ago a tumor appeared in the groin of Severance, increasing in size until it hung nearly to the knee, weighing about seven pounds. He carried this ten years, as no physician dared cut it out, fearing a shock to the nervous system would kill the patient.

There was no digestion; ringing sounds were in the ears; dizziness, palpitation, inflammation, with pains. Patient bed-ridden and praying for relief. Began to use Brown's Sarsaparilla, and fourteen bottles scattered and entirely eradicted this tumor, and Mr. Severance is now about his business. We will find abundant proof of this and other wonderful cures on application, we will offer the grandest blood purifier ever known. Chief Justice Peters says Dr. Brown was twenty years in perfecting this grand preparation. There is nothing in the world like BROWN'S Sarsaparilla. IN HONOR OF DEAD HEROES.

FEATURES OF THE MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE HEREABOUT.

The Poems Read by Henry and D. B. Abbey and the Substance of What the Speakers Said at the Headquarters of General Grant Post, G. A. R., Last Evening.

Grant Post, G. A. R., fittingly observed the latter part of Memorial Day. At 5:30 o'clock supper was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Post headquarters. At 7:30 o'clock the veterans and invited guests assembled in the main hall. The room was decorated with many reminders of grim-visaged war and reminders of peace. Commander Bunten called the assemblage to order, and announced that the exercises would begin with the singing of "America." The roll call by the Adjutant of the officers of the Post followed. Nearly all answered to their names. Letters of regret at not being able to accept invitations to be present were read from Postmaster-General Wanamaker and Congressman Charles J. Knapp, of Deposit, Delaware County.

Commander Bunten made a short speech of welcome.

Henry Abbey read a poem, his own effort, on the observance of Memorial Day, as follows:

With fragrant flowers we decorate their graves,
Who met in battle or in prison pen,
A fruitful death; who broke the chains of slaves,
And crushed the might of proud and cruel men.

They broke the chains with tears of bondage wet,
And gave their brave young lives for you and me;
For, where the slave endures, it is a threat
Against the precious freedom of the free.

The sun of liberty dispels the dew,
The tears, the night, and shines on near and far;
But, where it only lights the selfish few,
It scars and blights, and sinks in clouds of war.

'Tis fragrant gratitude we scatter o'er
The graves of them that died for you and me;
Their names, their dust, their memories once more,
O Liberty, we consecrate to thee!

Dr. J. N. Wright, an army veteran of Delaware County, followed. He said in part:

Commander, Comrades of the Army of the Republic, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I must say right at the commencement of my remarks that I am surprised. I cheerfully accepted the invitation to enjoy the hospitalities of General Grant Post on Memorial Day and I only expected to talk to old comrades and rake up old associations, but I find before me an audience composed of not only old soldiers but of ladies and children, and embracing a large representation of the intelligence and culture of Kingston City. I am certainly in a dilemma, but will try to extricate myself as best I can and also to interest you. In unfolding a leaf of my personal history, in relation to the prison pens of the South during the Rebellion, you must not believe me egotistical when I use the pronoun I. It is only necessary in telling the story, for my experience in prison life is that of hundreds and thousands of the boys who wore the blue, and I am only their mouthpiece on this occasion. I am very thankful that I came here to-day and I have greatly enjoyed your hospitality. There seems to be a bond of union between the people of Delaware and Ulster. It is steel bond—the Ulster & Delaware Railroad—and it is fast uniting our business and social interests. To get to my subject, which has been announced as prison experience in the South, I would say that to many people it seems strange how some soldiers get captured and others do not, but to those who have experienced capture, it seems very simple and easily explained. I was taken prisoner on August 25, 1864. It was about the hottest day of that summer, or at least it appeared so to me. I was in the Second Corps, General Hancock's, and our brigade was at Ring Station, Virginia, engaged in tearing up the rails of the Weldon Railroad and we thought we were doing a 'fine thing' and were 'all right,' but it seemed afterward we were not. Soon we were ordered to form in line of battle. In front of us was a piece of woods and soon out of that woods came our cavalry pickets and they came in a hurry too. Our flags were unfurled, and though we could see no enemy, we had no doubt that we soon would. Soon a long line of gray walked deliberately out of the woods and toward our lines. Our artillery began vomiting shot upon the advancing Confederates, our rifles cracked and theirs did in return. Soon the advance was checked, and the rebels retreated to the woods from which they came, and we innocently believed we had a 'fat thing.' We wondered what would happen next, but we did not wonder long. Soon from a cornfield on our right came one of the most perfect lines of battle I ever saw. And the worst of it was that the Confederates were in our rear, and between us and our ammunition. This compelled a change of front and some lively work. Right here I must relate a little episode, which will show how I came close to death. At the head of the advancing rebel column was a splendid-looking officer, who rode 10 paces in front of his men. He was urging them on, and was seen to grasp the colors of his regiment and wave his sword in the air. His movements attracted the attention of myself and a comrade and I said: 'Can't we fetch him?' My comrade was willing to try and we both took deliberate aim and fired. The officer was seen to fall and then the line shivered for a time but on came the Confederates and soon A. P. Hill's men were clambering into our breastworks. The next thing I knew was seeing a rifle pointing directly into my face. As I looked along the barrel and into the little black hole in the end, I believed my time had come. Just then a rebel officer's sword knocked the gun barrel up in the air and the load was discharged over my head. I heard an officer say: 'What are you doing, trying to murder a prisoner? If I see any more of that I'll cut out the heart of the man who does it.' A discussion then began between my would-be slayer and the officer, but I did not remain to see how it came out, I got with the main body of prisoners as fast as I could and celerity hardly expresses the hurry I was in. I believe, however, that the soldier who was so anxious to kill me wanted revenge for the shooting of the Rebel officer. That night we were sent to Petersburgh. We were without food. The next day we were sent by railroad to Richmond and while sidetracked on the way our train was shelled by th Union Army. When we arrived at Richmond we had been two days and three nights without food. The men of A. P. Hill's Corps had given us water and some of them said to us: 'We know you are brave and we'll do all we can for you, but God help you when the home guard at Richmond gets hold of you.' We well remembered this afterward. When we reached Richmond we received our first ration. It consisted of one-half of a hard tack and a piece of bacon about as large as two of my fingers. On the piece of bacon were three or four uninvited guests. I knocked two off but was too hungry to knock off the others and knew they would furnish as good food as the bacon and so gulped them down. When we reached the doors of Libby we encountered 'Old Windar' whose memory lives in the hearts of all Union soldiers who had the misfortune to meet him. We were formed in line and searched. On my person was a photograph of my mother and that of another person as dear to me. It was thrown on the floor and stamped under Windar's feet and all the pictures carried in the pockets of the other prisoners met the same fate. After remaining in Libby Prison for a month we were taken to Belle Island in the James River where we found 5,000 other unfortunates. The island is simply a pile of sand and a most inhospitable place. The first two days and nights we were there the 'line storm' was prevailing and we could not lie down or stand up with any comfort." In his further remarks the speaker told of the discomforts of Belle Island; of his illness, which resulted in his being returned to Richmond, etc. His description of how, through the help of a kind-hearted doctor, he was allowed to personate a wounded soldier and be one of 400 exchanged, was thrilling, especially that part relating to once more getting where the Union flag was waving.

The Rev. A. K. Fuller, on being called upon by Commander Bunten to make an address, said in part: "This is the kind of war I like; there is no bloodshed and no bursting shells, save those rhetorical ones that Dr. Wright has just fired, and God grant that none of us may be called upon to pass through such experiences as he has related. There are no gains without struggles. Even our redemption was accomplished on the bloody cross. The water lily comes from the mud and mire at the bottom of the River but we only notice the bloom on the top of the water. It is right to rehearse a love of country as we are doing this evening. We must teach our children not only to love liberty but also that character is the great essential and that a nation founded on truth cannot go to pieces." Mr. Fuller closed his address with the story of the drummer boy of Marengo who had never been taught to beat a retreat.

The following original poem was then read by D. Brainerd Abbey:

How sacred the charm of thy presence,
Sweet morn of Memorial Day!
How fragrant the breath of the flowers!
How fair the sweet blossoms of May!
The sunshine and breezes are smiling,
All nature is radiant and gay,
And yet this bright vision of beauty
Is tinged with the sombre and gray.

What memories are awakened! what visions!
What dreams of the days that are o'er!
We see the brave boys that are fallen
And look in their faces once more.
And think of the homes that were blighted,
Of hearts that are weary and sore,
That wait for the forms that are vanished,
For steps that will echo no more.

To-day in our grateful remembrance
We stand by these billowy mounds,
To honor the dead of the Nation
That rest in these consecrate grounds.
Tread softly, brave comrades and children,
Bear gently your tributes of love
Remember what service they rendered,
And thank the Great Father above.

Strew flowers o'er the graves of the heroes,
The fairest, the brightest, the best,
No tribute more fitting or sacred
To hallow the spot where they rest.
When danger imperiled the Nation
And war clouds hung dark in the sky,
They rose at the call of their country,
Prepared to defend it or die.

When treason struck down the old banner
And lifted its death-dealing hand,
There leaped from the ramparts of Sumter
A flame that swept wild through the land.
When drum-beat and bugle-note sounded
O'er mountain and valley the call,
They marched in the pride of their manhood,
And gave to their country their all.

They shared the stern fortunes of battle
With foes that were brave in their zeal;
Nor blanched mid the thunder of cannon
Or gleam of the glittering steel.
Through scenes of endurance and peril,
In all the dark hours of the strife,
They served with heroic devotion
The cause that was dearer than life.

O'er paths that were swept by the tempest
They bore the Old Flag in its pride,
And bravely defended its honor
Or perished in death at its side.
They sleep neath the stars in their glory
On fields won by valor untold,
Unmarked, it may be, yet remembered
By deeds that shall never grow old.

The war for the Union is ended,
The tramping of armies is o'er,
And Peace folds her pinions of plenty
And blesses this fair western shore.
Columbia, the glory of nations,
Redeemed from the chains of the slave,
The home of proud millions of freemen,
The land of the loyal and brave.

The Flag that our fathers bequeathed us
Floats proudly on land and on sea,
The joy and the pride of a people,
United and loyal and free.
Guard well the rich birthright of freedom,
Preserved with such treasure and blood,
And cherish the dauntless devotion
That met and rolled back the wild flood.

The stars of that ensign of Freedom
That shone through the mists of the fight,
Still gleam with a lustre of glory
Undimmed as the stars of the night.
God bless this beloved Republic,
Long may it in concord abide.
O, keep from dissension and peril
This land of our hope and our pride.

Then fling to the breezes our banners
That waved through the perilous fight;
To-day let the anthems of Freedom
Resound for the triumph of right.
From ocean to ocean unsevered,
From Maine to the Gulf and the Sea,
One kindred, one people, one Nation,
Forever this country shall be.

To-day we lay garlands and roses
On mounds where the violets grow,
To honor the dust of the heroes
That sleep in the silence below.
Forget not the Nation's defenders,
Who fought in the perilous hours,
Nor fail through the years to remember
Their graves with sweet tributes of flowers.

The Rev. Thomas Lamont in his address said that it seemed as though the observation of Memorial Day was in the line of God's providence. Like the observation of the Fourth of July and the recent celebration of the inaugural of Washington, it keeps alive the recollection of important historical stages in the development of the Nation. Each one of these anniversaries celebrates the settlement of important questions that will come up in the life of any nation. The question, the settlement of which is commemorated by Memorial Day, will never come up again."

Hon. James G. Lindsley said substantially: "Our gathering here and what we see in this room is a grand object lesson. We see here emblems, mementoes and mottoes which are historical and especially that starry banner which is the emblem of our Union. Sixty years ago, when we celebrated the Fourth of July in the town where I lived, one of the great attractions in the parade was the veterans of the Revolution. The veterans were humble persons who dwelt in cottages during all the rest of the year and trudged along on foot and no one appeared to worry over the fact, but on the Fourth of July the people insisted they must ride in carriages. I agree with Dr. Wright that the marching days of the veterans of the War of the Rebellion are nearly over, and it is best that they meet together in this manner and rehearse patriotic sentiments. It can no longer be said that the Union is nothing, for it is something. The question of state rights as against the Union is dead, and the Union has been welded together by bands of steel. We are a Nation of peace. We do not look for war, and intend no aggressive acts. However, the nations of the Old World learned in the struggle for the preservation of the Union that the people on both sides were brave. They know what to expect if the 60,000,000 of people, who compose this great Nation, are to be met in war. True, we have not many ships and other necessaries for immediate war, but we have stout hearts and arms to build them, and should war come unexpectedly, the men of the North and South will demonstrate that our flag is invulnerable. Let this object lesson teach you a lesson of patriotism and love of country."

Mayor John Newkirk said that it was a pleasure to him to meet with the members of Grant Post. After alluding to the fact that the day had been fittingly observed, Mr. Newkirk said: "Some years ago a great political out-door mass meeting was held on the commons, then between the villages of Rondout and Kingston. Long before the time for the exercises to begin a great crowd of people gathered. The principal speaker was General Daniel E. Sickles, who lost a leg at Gettysburg. Among the first words said by the General was: 'I may be a stranger to some of you, but not to all. There are men of Ulster County in this audience who bore me from the battle-field of Gettysburg.' There are men before me to-night that have a vivid recollection of the event mentioned and it is only one of many showing the active part the men of Kingston and Ulster County took in the war. I hope that you may long be spared to meet together and honor the memory of those who died and suffered that the Nation might live. I hope also that I may be spared to again meet with the members of Grant Post on future Memorial Days."

The Rev. Francis Washburn was invited to make an address but declined on account of the lateness of the hour. Commander Bunten, seeing the Rev. J. R. B. Smith in the back portion of the room, mentioned the fact and invited the G. A. R. Department Chaplain to make an address. Mr. Smith in response said: "Commander and Comrades of Grant Post, I realize that it is late and that I am only a pilgrim. During the day I have been at Matteawan on the invitation of comrades there and took part in the observance of Memorial Day. I could not go back to my home without looking upon Old Ulster. I came in the back door here and hoped I would get out that way or at least not be called upon for a speech, but the lynx-eye of your Commander has discovered me. I have enjoyed Memorial Day and I realize, as your ex-Congressman has said, that it is a great object lesson. To-day I rode in a carriage with one whom we would have called a 'Johnny' 25 years ago. I thank God he has been converted. He told me that before the war he used to drive with a whip, if necessary, the men of my race. Then he was ignorant and unlearned but since the war he has acquired an education. We need have no fear for freedom. The mothers of the country are instilling in the breasts of their children a love of freedom. In the South in slavery days from 400 to 500 colored slaves were born. Now colored freemen are being born there at the rate of 1,000 per year. Comrades, you will remember that while in the South you had no fear of personal safety when you saw a dark face. I have just visited old scenes in the South. I have talked with the people on every occasion and" [pointing to the American flag] "I can assure you that 'Old Glory' is all right." During the evening recitations were given by Julius Appel, Miss Lucie Pattison and Miss Katherine Huhne. The Misses T. J. and M. Mayer sang. Professor Schaublin presided at the organ.

MEMORIAL DAY NOTES.

The day was generally observed in Rosendale. Business was suspended. A meeting held in St. Peter's Catholic Church was attended by the members of Division No. 1, A. O. H. and St. Peter's T. A. B. Society in regalia. High Mass was celebrated and an address made by the Rev. John J. Gleason. The members of the Protestant Sunday Schools and a number of G. A. R. men, and the members of Hiawatha Lodge of Odd Fellows assembled in the district school house and marched to St. Peter's Church, headed by St. Peter's band. At the church the procession was joined by the societies there, and the march to the Rosendale Plains cemeteries was in the following order: Marshal and Aides, cross borne by Michael Connelly, St. Peter's Band, American flag and Color Sergeant, members of G. A. R. and S. of V., St. Peter's T. A. B. Society, Division No. 1, A. O. H., Sunday School St. Peter's Church, Priest and Acolytes, children of Protestant Sunday Schools. On reaching the Catholic Cemetery the procession halted. The Catholic societies entered accompanied by the veterans and decorated the graves. The service known as the "Office for the Dead" was read, the choir singing the responses and the band playing appropriate airs. The procession then proceeded to the Rosendale Plains Cemetery, where the members of the order of Odd Fellows performed a memorial service at the grave of a deceased brother. Addresses were made by the Rev. M. N. Oliver, A. H. Hill and the Rev. C. G. Callen. Superintendent VanTassel spoke. Graves were decorated.

The City Hall here was a pleasant place to visit yesterday. In the afternoon about 60 members of Pratt Post, headed by Commander B. G. Walker, marched to the building and stacked their arms and equipments in a loft of the hall, after which a collation was served to them by the members of the Post Relief Corps No. 113. The ladies wore bronze badges and they saw that each veteran was well provided for at the table. Old friendships were renewed, and stirring incidents of the war were recounted by the men who had taken part in it. The Rev. Eugene Hill, Pastor of the Reformed Church at Three Bridges, N. J., and who is a member of Lambert Post No. 48, of Port Flemington, N. J., was present. He was warmly greeted by his old comrades. The tables were profusely decorated with flowers. The ladies of the Relief Corps deserve praise for the patriotic manner in which they helped to observe the day. Speeches were made.

Yesterday a detail from General Grant Post, in charge of Junior Vice-Commander Patrick Daley, visited St. Mary's Cemetery and decorated the graves of 40 comrades with flowers. A detail from the same Post, in charge of ex-Senior Vice-Commander Derrenbacher, went to St. Peter's Cemetery and strewed the mounds of five comrades with floral offerings.

A monument that attracted much attention in Montrepose Cemetery was that of the late Chief Engineer George Weber. Firemen had decorated the monument with flowers and vines.

At Bloomingdale William Riesenberger, of Pratt, and Samuel Freer, of General Grant Posts, escorted the children of the Sunday Schools who decorated the graves of veterans.

The scholars in School District No. 3 contributed many beautiful flowers for the graves of the dead in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Hundreds of people cheered the bicyclers. The race was won by John VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie. Time 1 hour 2 minutes and 11 seconds. Elias VanBenschoten, of Poughkeepsie, second. Time, 1 hour 2 minutes and 14 seconds. Edward Cashin, of Wappingers Falls, third. Time 1 hour, 3 minutes and 14 seconds. The course was from the foot of Market-street, Poughkeepsie, to Wappingers Falls and return.

In the cross-country run of the Newburgh Athletic Club yesterday Grant Marvin, George W. Sparling, Patrick Dolan, Joseph Low, L. J. Coyle, John English, W. H. Waxeman and Thomas Dillon competed. The distance was about seven miles. The race was a handicap and Low won in 50 minutes and 35 seconds, English second and Sparling third. Dolan, when near Newburgh, with a fair prospect of winning, fainted and fell against a wall, seriously injuring himself.

George L. Palmer, of Coeymans Hollow, killed a blacksnake one day recently. The reptile measured nearly six feet in length.

Jacob Lewis, of Newburgh, has paid a fine of $50 for selling liquor illegally in that City on Wednesday.

A Schooner Aground in Rondout Creek—Arrivals at Tidewater—Coal Tonnage.

On Thursday afternoon a three-masted schooner, loaded, ran aground in the Rondout Creek, near the mouth of the Brook at South-Rondout. Four tugs tried in vain to pull it off. The strain on the McDonald's bawser was so great that it parted once.

There were reported at the Rondout Department of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company to-day vessels that in the aggregate will carry away 5,700 tons of coal.

The new propeller Hewitt Boice, Captain William Barnett, will be launched from McMullen's marine railway here on Monday.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 39 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 5,200 tons of coal.

The whistle of the steamer City of Kingston was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek last night at 9:40 o'clock.

What a Correspondent Says.

A correspondent writes that "some active women who pride themselves on their housekeeping seem to forget that the object of keeping house is that human beings may be accommodated in it. Their sole idea seems to be this, that the object of keeping a house is that the house may be kept in a certain form and order; and in studying the form and order they sacrifice the comfort the house was established to secure. Such active women are a source of trouble because they want sense to direct and control their energies."

The Case of John F. Hooper.

The trial of John F. Hooper, of the North New-York Congregational Church, on charges of contumacy and falsehood, was continued to-day by the North New-York Classis of the Reformed Church, New-York City. The proceedings were conducted with closed doors. The accused was present with his 19-year-old wife, with whom he recently eloped.

Catching Shad With Hook and Line in Waters in this Vicinity—Horse Race on Kingston Driving Park—Base Ball on the Union-Avenue Grounds, Etc.

The races at Kingston Driving Park on Thursday afternoon were interesting. The Judges were David Hallihan and James Cummings, of this City, and Daniel Winter, of Pine Hill. The first race was a trot for three-minute horses. The entries were H. Van-Rensselaer's black gelding "Rowdy Boy," William P. Coles' bay gelding "Billy C." and Rienzi Lasher's bay gelding "Baltimore." "Billy C." was driven by Simon Burr, the other horses by their owners. Four heats were trotted. "Rowdy Boy" won the first, second and third heats. In the third heat "Billy C." trotted fast and took the pole from "Rowdy Boy." On the back stretch "Rowdy Boy" broke, and, while running, passed the other. The judges gave the heat to "Billy C." The race was finally won by "Rowdy Boy," "Billy C." being second. The second event was for 2:40 horses. The entries were Marcus Lane's chestnut geldiug "Eddie D., Abram Lasher's brown gelding "M. A. L." and W. Crum's gray gelding "Roy." The chestnut was driven by John J. Morin. Lasher drove his own horse. Burr drove "Roy." The first heat was a close one between the black and sorrel. The black led until coming up the home stretch. The second time around the black broke, and the sorrel won by a length. During the second heat "Roy" closed on the sorrel and made a lively race. The third heat and race was won by the sorrel. The entries for the running race were Cornelius Davis's bay gelding "Unknown," and John J. Morin's chestnut gelding "Spider." The first heat a colored lad rode "Unknown." A young man named Samuel Harrison rode "Spider." When the horses passed the Judge's stand the Judges rang the bell to call them back. The riders paid no attention to the bell but went around the track at full speed. When they came up the home stretch a number of men moved across the track and stopped the horses. While scoring for another start Harrison accidentally fell from his horse. He was assisted to remount. The Judges gave the word. The colored driver ran a short distance and stopped his horse. Harrison rode on, but when he saw his antagonist was not coming slowed up. There were cries to the rider of "Unknown" to "go cross lots." He did so by running his horse up the road leading to the barn. Harrison seeing his danger started his horse and after a close run took the lead down the back stretch. When the horses came up the home stretch they were stopped by their owners. "Spider" was finally galloped around the track and the heat given to that horse. In the second heat "Unknown" was ridden by another driver. It was decided to run a half mile. "Unknown" took the pole at the first turn and won. During the third heat as the horses were running swiftly around the first turn near the grand stand, Harrison lost his balance, fell from his horse and struck the rail of the inner fence. The race was won by "Unknown."

John G. VanEtten, of this City, proved yesterday that shad can be caught with hook and line, wriggling worms being used for bait. In company with Frank Dewey he fished in the Rondout Creek just below the dam at Eddyville. The two men had angled for some time with indifferent success, when Captain VanEtten's pole was nearly jerked out of his hands. He believed that he had hooked a large bass and began to "play it." The pole, which weighs seven and one-half ounces, bent like a reed. After playing the fish for about 10 minutes he pulled it from the water, and to his and Dewey's surprise it was a shad, which when weighed pulled the scales down to four and a half pounds. The men essayed to try their luck again, and in a few minutes Captain VanEtten felt another strong bite, and after going through the same manœuvres as before, he landed another shad, which weighed a quarter of an ounce less than the first one.

The game of ball played on the Union-avenue grounds here yesterday afternoon between the Kingstons and the Labor Club resulted in an another crushing defeat for the visitors. Such an exhibition of poor batting, juggling of ball and miserable base running was never before witnessed on the grounds. One of the fielders ran as though the bones in his back were of lead. The Kingstons played fairly well. Allen covered much of the infield and caught several "flies" in the outfield. T. O'Reilly batted the ball as though he had a spite against it, making two and three-baggers as regular as clock-work. The following is the score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Kingstons	4	0	0	0	4	1	4	1	6	—20
Creek Locks	0	0	0	5	0	0	1	1	2	—9

A young man on the Union-avenue ball grounds yesterday afternoon made use of such extravagant language that he caused the umpire to call a ball a strike. Here are sample expressions: "I'll consign you to the obsequies of oblivion." Seeing a colored man he said: "He is a representative of the Nineteenth Amendment." "You mean the Fifteenth Amendment," ventured a bystander. "Not to appear parsimonious, I would ejaculate that since the advent of President Harrison that the Amendment has been prelongated," was the reply.

Last night a man was seen in a hammock suspended between two posts so close together that he was doubled up like a jack-knife. And yet such is the faculty of the American people to accommodate themselves to circumstances that he slumbered away as though he enjoyed it.

The advantage of wide tires on wagons was noticed by bicyclers of this City while running to Poughkeepsie yesterday on their machines. Wide tires used on wagons drawing heavy loads prevent injury to the track.

In yesterday forenoon's game between the Bostons and Chicagos, Richard Johnston, of Rondout, made a two-base hit, a home run, two runs, put out four men and made no errors.

T. Granger Stewart, M. D., F. R. S. E., Ordinary Physician to H. M., the Queen, in Scotland, Professor of Practice of Physic in the University of Edinburgh, in writing of Bright's disease, says: "The blood itself is altered in its chemical composition. Its density is diminished, the corpuscles and albumen being deficient, while the water is correspondingly increased. The quantity of urea is above the normal. This is a plain recognition of the necessity of directing active treatment with Warner's Safe Cure when the blood is overcharged with urea or uric acid poison.

Hon. D. F. Davis,

Ex-Governor of the State of Maine, ex-Collector of the port of Bangor, was asked to investigate the case of Reuben Severance, of Stillwater, Me. He did so, finding the following to be the facts: Fourteen years ago a tumor appeared in the groin of Severance, increasing in size until it hung nearly to the knee, weighing about seven pounds. He carried this ten years, as no physician dared cut it out, fearing a shock to the nervous system would kill the patient.

There was no digestion; ringing sounds were in the ears; dizziness, palpitation, inflammation, with pains. Patient bed-ridden and praying for relief. Began to use Brown's Sarsaparilla, and fourteen bottles scattered and entirely eradicted this tumor, and Mr. Severance is now about his business. We will find abundant proof of this and other wonderful cures on application, we will offer the grandest blood purifier ever known. Chief Justice Peters says Dr. Brown was twenty years in perfecting this grand preparation. There is nothing in the world like
